Notched Stick Tells Sea Drama

ONE of the three survivors of the torpedoed freighter Sessa, First Mate H. J. Rjerrejaard, is pictured with the stick that he marked off the 20 days that he and five of the Sessa's crew were adrift before being picked up by the U. S. destroyer Lansdale. This "log" of the days their boat was adrift also tells of the three men in the boat who died of exposure.

Germans Renew Island Attacks

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 16—Renewed German attacks on the Russian-held Baltic Islands of Oesel and Dagoe were reported in dispatches from Helsinki today.

The reports to Stockholm said both Oesel and Dagoe Islands have been surrounded by extensive minefields.

(Editor's Note: The official Russian midnight war communique said a German attempt to capture Oesel Island had been completely "smashed" with four troop-laden transports and a destroyer sunk.)

PLEA FOR MORE MONEY REFUSED BY COMMISSION

Circleville City and School officials Tuesday turned to their pending two mill levies as a last resort of securing operating funds for 1942 when the County Budget Commission refused to grant them increases in their tax rates.

School officials had hoped to gain an additional $12,000 through an increased millage, and city councilmen hoped to pick up several thousand dollars, but the Budget Commission refused to change the figures from last year. Both the city and the school are proposing a two mill levy at the general election in November.

Members of the budget commission, including Auditor Forrest Short, Treasurer Robert Colville and Prosecutor George Gerhardt, informed city and school officials at their hearing Tuesday that to stay within the ten mill limitation no increases could be granted.

Inside the ten mills, the levy rates are: County, 2.80 mills; townships, .20 mills, general fund, .05 road fund; School, 2.05 mills, general fund, .50 mills, bonds; Circleville Corporation, 3.60, general fund; .80 mills, bonds.

The rates outside the 10 mill limitation also remained unchanged, with the school rate left at 4.10 and the corporation's at 1.10 mills, making the total tax rate 15.20 mills.

NAVY OPERATES UNDER ORDERS TO FIRE FIRST

Hitler's Stand On Warning From Washington Remains Unknown

'INCIDENT' IS EXPECTED

'Escort' For All Lend-Lease Goods To Iceland Area Official Now

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — A virtual state of naval warfare exists today between the United States and Germany and Italy as American warships patrol the western side of the Atlantic with orders to "capture or destroy" any axis submarines found between this continent and Iceland.

Today represents the first time since America's participation in the World War that American warships are patrolling the Atlantic with orders to shoot first at German warships.

Disclosure that the United States Navy would start operating under such orders today was made by Secretary of the Navy Knox in his speech to the American Legion convention at Milwaukee yesterday.

Official and diplomatic Washington is waiting tensely for some word to indicate whether Adolf Hitler has ordered German submarines withdrawn from the American side of the Atlantic, or whether he intends to defy this government's determination to clear the sea lanes between the United States and Iceland of axis warships.

Incident Expected
If Hitler has decided to meet the American challenge, it is expected another shooting incident will occur shortly.

However, if German submarines are ordered to avoid the American (Continued on Page Two)

TRIAL IN AKRON CHURCH MURDER NEARS ITS END

AKRON, Sept. 16—The defense in the cremation murder trial of Albert B. Lukens, 58-year-old North Hills Methodist Church janitor, was expected to rest today when the trial resumes.

County Prosecutor Alva J. Russell said he would follow the defense with five or six rebuttal witnesses after he accused Lukens yesterday of thinking he had committed the "perfect crime," in the slaying of Ruth Zwicker, 23, church organist, and the cremation of her body in the church furnace on last Easter Sunday.

"There had been no crime committed," was Lukens reply. He also denied that he had choked the girl while attempting to kiss her as he spent the day on the stand, fighting to escape the electric chair on a charge of first degree murder.

Four 21-Year-Olds Leave Sept. 29 For U. S. Army

Draft Board Assigns Men To Fill Call For Eight; Henry Youth Goes Monday

The 21-year-olds include James Howard Nungster, Circleville Route 1, a volunteer; Roy Allen Conrad, Terflinger, Mt. Sterling Route 2, and Marvin Merritt Dountz, Oñent Route 1.

Others included in the call are Emmitt Dwight Timmons, Ashville Route 1; Harry Allen Keller, Williamsport Route 2; Blenn Leon Stevenson, Circleville, and Charles Lawrence Julian, Laurelville Route 1.

The contingent of eight will meet at the Selective Service office in the Court House at 7:15 a. m., where the men will be given final instructions before leaving by bus for the induction station at Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Next Monday, September 22, the local board will fill a call for one colored registrant by sending Milton Henry, 586 East Franklin Street, to Columbus for induction.

U. S. Navy Gets World's Largest Blimp

PICTURED after a test flight at Akron, Ohio, is the Goodyear K-3, world's largest non-rigid airship, which the U. S. Navy plans to use for patrol duty. Commander C. V. S. Knox described the tests as "satisfactory." The 246-foot, $325,000 blimp will be equipped with torpedoes, depth charges, machine guns.

PRO-NAZI SHAH OF IRAN QUILTS

British, Russians Move On Teheran; Crown Prince Takes Throne

LONDON, Sept. 16—Shah Riza Khan Pahlevi of Iran abdicated his throne today according to word reaching London, and British and Russian troops immediately began to march on Teheran.

Abdication of the Shah was announced in a Teheran radio broadcast which was picked up in London.

A few minutes later the British radio broadcast this report from its special correspondent in the Near East:

"British and Russian armored forces are moving in to occupy Teheran.

"The Russians are less than 30 minutes away."

The British announcer stated the above report had "just been received" from the correspondent. Reports reaching the British capital indicated the Shah had departed from Teheran by automobile.

His oldest son, the crown prince of Iran, was said to have been named his successor.

The crown prince of Iran—now evidently the Shah—is Shahpur Mohammed Riza, who in 1939 married Princess Hawzle, eldest sister of the king of Egypt.

The special broadcast of the Teheran radio as received in London stated:

"Because of ill health, the Shah abdicated in favor of his son, the crown prince, following a meeting of parliament."

British authorities said the government here had anticipated the Shah's abdication and charged he was responsible for "much misrule" and continually blocked the new government's efforts at reformation.

These British quarters also accused him of exporting many essential foodstuffs to the axis powers, leaving it to British troops to "mitigate the hardships of the Persian peasantry."

They declared that since British troops have been in Iran, the Shah worked "hand in hand" with Germany. (Continued on Page Two)

CHAMPION DRUM MAJOR TO ATTEND BIG SHOW

Robert Dawson of Dayton, one of the nation's outstanding drum majors, will attend the Pumpkin Show October 9 and will serve as judge of a drum majors' contest being conducted that evening. Dawson will also put on an exhibition of baton swinging.

The Daytonite, who is 19, was adjudged third best among 350 contestants at the National Drum Majors' Contest in Chicago last year.

He will serve as drum major this year for the University of Dayton band.

HOUSE PUTS ITS OKEH ON MAJOR TAXATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The House without a record vote today gave its approval to the highest tax bill in the nation's history, designed to put $3,553,400,000 annually into the treasury.

The measure now goes to the senate for final action, and then to the White House.

Major provisions of the bill are: Lowering of income tax exemptions so that married couples earning $1,500 and single persons with incomes as low as $750 a year, will be compelled to pay direct taxes. Existing exemptions are $2,000 and $800, and the change will require 4,930,000 new persons to file tax returns.

Sharp increases in existing income tax rates, especially in the lower and middle brackets where some of the levies will be doubled or even tripled.

Imposition of many new excise, or so-called "hidden" taxes, which are in effect a federal sales tax on certain commodities or services.

Steep increases in corporation income and stock taxes and in excess profits taxes to make business concerns contribute more to the defense program.

COMMANDER OF CAVALRY OUTFIT HURT SERIOUSLY

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 16—Col. Woods King, commanding officer of the 107th Cavalry and widely known Cleveland, O., real estate operator, was in an Army base hospital today after suffering serious injury during the Second Army vs. Third Army war maneuvers.

Col. King was hurt when a scout car in which he was riding was forced into a ditch by another army vehicle when operating in last night's blackout. He suffered fracture of some ribs and possible kidney abrasions.

Lieut. Col. Ralph King, brother of Col. King and executive officer of the 107th Cavalry, succeeded to command of the unit.

FAMED EDITOR KILLED

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 16—Funeral arrangements were being made today for John J. Mead Sr., 78, founder and publisher of the 53-year-old Erie Times and one of American's outstanding editors, who was killed yesterday when he was struck by a heavily-loaded truck while walking across an intersection near his home.

JAPS HOLD UP AMERICAN SHIP

Nipponese Demand Cargo Of Oil Be Unloaded In Shanghai Port

SHANGHAI, Sept. 16—Japanese authorities today held up the departure for Manila of the American merchant ship Zoella Lykes.

The Japanese demanded that the freighter unload in Shanghai its cargo of barreled oil consigned to Manila. The vessel had already unloaded flour and a small consignment of oil for the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Agents of the American President Lines were negotiating for the release of the ship whose sailing has already been delayed for twenty four hours.

COURT ASKED TO FREE MAN HELD SINCE JANUARY

An attempt to release John T. White, Clarksburg, W. Va., confined to County Jail where he has awaited trial for the last eight months, was made Tuesday when his attorney, C. A. Weldon, submitted a motion in Common Pleas Court calling for dismissal of the case on grounds of lack of prosecution.

Judge Meeker Terwilliger overruled the motion and called for the case to be heard Monday as scheduled. Judge Terwilliger instructed Clerk of Courts A. L. Wilder to send notices to prospective jurors Thursday.

Reading a lengthy plea which cited numerous decisions and quoting sections of the Ohio constitution which grant prisoners just and speedy trials, Attorney Weldon asked that the charges against White be dropped.

White was indicted in 1937 for allegedly giving the Pickaway Livestock Association a $3,200 bad check as payment on a shipment of hogs. He was brought into the county on January 17, 1941 after serving a sentence in Lincoln, Neb., for a similar charge. Before Judge Terwilliger, White pleaded innocent and was placed in County Jail in default of $1,000 bond payment.

Emmett L. Crist, employed to assist Prosecutor George Gerhardt in the case, agreed that the case had been delayed, but through no fault of the state, since depositions could not be secured because of the illness of a Clarksburg court reporter. Prosecutor Gerhardt was also present in the courtroom during the hearing.

ESCAPED KILLER NABBED

LONDON, Sept. 16—Steve Bolan, 37, Hamilton County killer and one of three men who escaped from the state prison farm on August 13, has been returned to custody, it was announced today. He was arrested and identified by Louisville, Ky., police. Robert Hileman, 37, serving a life term for second degree murder, and Lovell Horsley, 35, serving 15 years for assault and robbery, are still at large.

NINE RUSSIAN DIVISIONS HIT

Several Days Of Fighting Lead To Victories In South, Nazis Claim

BRIDGEHEADS SET UP

Terrific Fight Near Lake Ilmen Brings Disaster To Many Soviets

BERLIN, Sept. 16—"Complete annihilation" of nine Red army divisions in a terrific battle south of Lake Ilmen on the Russo-German front was announced by the German high command today.

The war communique issued from Chancellor Hitler's headquarters said nine other Russian divisions had been "smashed."

At the same time, the Germans announced that their forces, after several days of violent fighting, had crossed the lower Dnieper at many points, and were victoriously advancing on the broad front eastward into the Ukraine.

Lake Ilmen is situated on the northern sector of the front, south and slightly west of besieged Leningrad.

The high command war bulletin stated 53,000 Russian prisoners were taken as well as 320 tanks and 605 field guns.

Equipment Wrecked
In addition, it was stated, German forces either captured or destroyed large additional quantities of Russian war equipment.

The German armies which accomplished this latest victory were said to be operating under command of Gen. Von Busch.

According to the Nazi high command the 18 wrecked Soviet divisions—half of which were "annihilated" while the remainder were "smashed"—belonged to the 11th, 27th and 34th Soviet armies.

The German victory announced in the communique evidently was the result of fighting for domination of the defenses of Leningrad.

In the Ukraine, according to the high command, formations of the German army, supported by aviation, established bridgeheads at "the most important places across the wide lower reaches of the Dnieper River."

After these bridgeheads had been held and expanded in several days fighting against desperate and strong enemy attacks, partly supported by tanks, to Germans were said to have "advanced victoriously from these bases in a wide front to the east."

The high command claimed the destruction by aircraft of a 7,300-ton tanker off the Hebrides, and the bombing and damaging of two freighters, included a tanker, steaming under convoy near England.

FOUR KILLED AS CAR HITS WAGON CARRYING EIGHT

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 16—An after-dark ride in a farm pushcart today had brought death on a rural highway to four children from nearby Dixonville and left four others injured, two seriously.

A brother and sister from each of two Dixonville families were fatally hurt when a automobile driven by Paul Clemenson, 51, Denver, Col., rammed their loaded wagon on route 450 about 10 o'clock last night.

The dead: Mike Sagal, 15, who was pushing the wagon; Katherine Sagal, 13, his sister; Nick Kaletta, 9; Rose Kaletta, 8, Nick's sister.

Injured were Margaret Kaletta, 12, a sister of the two dead Kaletta children, unconscious in Indiana Hospital; Margaret Sagal, 10, a sister of the dead Sagal children, also unconscious at (Continued on Page Two)

WORK AT LORAIN YARD RESUMES AFTER STRIKE

LORAIN, Sept. 16 — Work resumed today at the Lorain yard of the American Shipbuilding Co., on navy orders for three submarine net tenders as 1,100 employees returned to their jobs after a 12-day strike caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the AFL and CIO.

Charles Purkis, CIO regional director, said CIO men in the yards were returning only temporarily until the National Labor Relations Board determines the bargaining agent. The local CIO union last night voted unanimously to resume work on that basis.

At Legion Parley

PICTURED as he arrived in Milwaukee, Wis., for the American Legion's national convention is John Henry O'Connor, 75, of Winfield, Kans., who served in the World War as a major of infantry and won the Distinguished Service Cross. He also was decorated in the Spanish-American War.

LEGION TO BEGIN CONSIDERATION OF BIG ISSUES

Parade Being Conducted In Milwaukee; F.D.'s Foreign Policy To Be Backed

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 16—Consideration of grave national issues was temporarily put aside today at the 23rd annual national convention of the American Legion as thousands of legionnaires joined in the fun and frolic which every year marks the great Legion parade.

Today's procession was scheduled to last from nine to twelve hours, starting at 9 a. m. and continuing until the last Legionnaire and the last colorful float had covered a line of march stretching some three miles before the eyes of tens of thousands of onlookers.

Late today, convention committees on foreign relations, national defense, legislation and resolutions planned to grapple with momentous national issues. These committees are to frame Legion policy, and to place before the convention proper tomorrow such questions as U. S. aid to Russia, America's part in the European war, and related subjects dealing with the Legion's stand on administration foreign policy.

It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the committees will recommend help to Russia, and full support of acts of the administration with reference to defense and the war situation, despite opposition of non-interventionists to force a declaration against American involvement in the European war.

The disposition of the Legion delegates to back President Roosevelt in his policies was manifested on the first day of the convention when they shouted and cheered utterances of high officials of the army and navy—and booed and jeered mention of the America First committee.

side of the Atlantic and concentrate on attacking the shipping lanes nearer Britain, it is considered possible that no serious incidents will develop in the immediate future.

Although the American Navy has orders to hunt down Italian as well as German submarines on the American side of the Atlantic, officials do not anticipate that any of Benito Mussolini's underwater craft will be found.

No Italian submarines so far have been reported operating on this side of the Atlantic, and it is considered unlikely that they will start to venture over now.

In addition to hunting down axis submarines and warships on this side of the Atlantic, there are indications that the United States Navy will start conveying as far as Iceland all ships carrying American aid to Great Britain.

Knox, in his speech, disclosed that the Navy has been conveying American and Icelandic vessels to Iceland since July 7th, the date on which this country took over the defense of that North Atlantic island outpost.

"Escort" Official Word

Knox said that continuously since July 7th American naval vessels "have been providing escort for cargo ships flying the American and Icelandic flags."

Escort is the naval term for protection given to convoys.

Knox also said the Navy would today start providing protection "as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

These remarks led to the belief in diplomatic quarters in Washington that the American Navy henceforth will convey American aid-to-Britain as far as Iceland.

BERLIN, Sept. 16—German authorities today insisted on the legal validity of the Nazi blockade of North Atlantic waters despite Secretary of the Navy Knox's orders to the United States fleet to sink axis submarines and surface raiders found between North American and Iceland.

The American government, responsible sources asserted, has not notified Berlin of its definition of so-called American defense waters. Nor has Berlin requested such a definition since it considers its blockade pronouncement "valid guidance."

MADRID, Sept. 16—The newspaper ABC said today that the orders of Secretary of the Navy Knox to American warships to sink or capture any axis war vessels between the American continent and Iceland are "equivalent to a challenge to Germany and Italy and more than that—a real declaration of war."

The newspaper declared that President Roosevelt had "reached a real state of war without an official declaration," and that there are now "little hopes that a serious conflict will be averted."

POLICE CHIEF ASKS AID IN BREAK-IN INQUIRY

Police Chief William McCrady, Tuesday, asked property owners of the city to report break-ins as soon as possible after they are discovered. A prompt report of breaking and entering cases will help police in their investigations, Chief McCrady pointed out.

A break-in at the Mecca on West Main Street was reported to police late Monday. Employees of the establishment said someone had entered the basement of the building sometime Sunday night, taking an undetermined amount of canned goods.

The Mecca break-in makes the sixth case to have happened in the last five days.

many and Italy. It was stated that the abdication of the Shah "undoubtedly was forced" by members of the Iranian parliament.

British authorities said there was no truth in reports that Soviet Russia instigated the abdication and said it was "obviously the wish of freedom-loving people."

Officials added that there are sufficient British forces in Iran to "prevent serious disorders."

It was pointed out, however, that the British and Russian forces had been ordered to approach Teheran not because of the Shah's abdication, but because difficulties had arisen in rounding up Germans whose hidden influence was hindering the British. This influence, it was stated, did not come from Iranian government circles.

The abdicating Shah was replaced by his eldest son, Crown Prince Shahpur Mohammed Riza Pahlavi, 22-year-old youth, who took over the throne after the Iranian parliament held a special meeting at noon today.

Informed quarters expressed belief his selection for the role of Shah was influenced by the fact he neither belonged to any political party nor had any military status.

The abdicating Shah was born in 1878 and was elected king of Iran in 1925. He was crowned the following year.

FBI SILENT IN PROBE OF BIG CRUDE OIL DAMAGE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents today remained silent on their investigation into the possibility of sabotage in the derailment and subsequent fire which destroyed 11 tank cars of a 61-car crude oil train enroute to Philadelphia by its vitally-needed cargo.

Local FBI men refused to say whether or not they found evidence of sabotage or whether they had located a man who was seen jumping from the train shortly before the wreck. Pennsylvania railroad police, however, were carefully probing the twisted ruins, which were cleared from the double-track main-line right-of-way this morning.

The 61-tank cars, each carrying about 11,000 gallons of crude oil, were headed for Philadelphia refineries to alleviate the critical gasoline shortage on the eastern seaboard.

If Adolf ever makes the pilgrimage to Mecca, we'll wager it'll be under escort of a few panzer divisions.

MINOR MISHAPS MARK FIRST DAY OF GAME SEASON

By International News Service

Ohio today counted four minor casualties from the first day of the 1941 squirrel season, while initial reports from the hunters indicated that the supply of such game was not too plentiful.

One of the four wounded was Columbus Police Cpl. Edgar N. Butler, wounded slightly in the head by a stray .22-caliber bullet as he was on duty along the bank of Alum Creek on the eastern limits of Columbus. Butler said the shot undoubtedly was fired by a squirrel hunter.

Robert Duncan, of Cadiz, was struck by about 18 shotgun pellets fired by a friend at a squirrel on the ground while Duncan was hiding in a bush.

E. J. Bissel, 25, of Wadsworth, was wounded on the hands, arms, legs and body when the shotgun of his wife discharged accidentally eight miles southwest of Loudonville.

F. K. Rutter, 32, of Zanesville, was slightly wounded when a companion mistook Rutter's cap for a squirrel.

BRITISH PLANES CENTER ATTACK ON BIG SEAPORT

LONDON, Sept. 16—British authorities declared today that a "powerful" force of R.A.F. bombers attacked targets at the great German seaport of Hamburg during the night.

Great fires were started in shipyards, factories and railroad facilities and burned for some hours, it was stated.

Other bomber squadrons were declared to have raided the German naval bases at Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven as well as the German-occupied French port of Le Havre.

Officials said Le Havre was hit particularly hard.

Nine British planes failed to return from the widespread night operations.

More than 200 RAF bombers were engaged in the night raids.

FISHERMAN FINED

Simon McCain, 24, Columbus, was fined $15 and costs in Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges' court Monday for fishing without a license. He was picked up near Circleville by Game Protector Chalmers Burns. His companion, Harold Gipson, 34, Columbus, being held on investigation for carrying a .38 calibre revolver under his shirt, was released with no charges filed against him.

Clemenson, ordered to post bond as pending a coroner's inquest told state police that headlights from another oncoming car had blinded him momentarily. When the lights had passed, he said the wagon loaded with children suddenly loomed before him—about 30 feet away on the concrete highway.

Clemenson said he swerved but was unable to avoid striking the car.

The car went down an embankment at the left side of the road. Neither Clemenson nor W. T. Hudson, of Cherry Tree, Pa., a passenger, was injured. Police said that Hudson corroborated Clemenson's story of how the accident happened.

Clemenson reported that he has been visiting at his former home in Clymer, where his mother is critically ill.

PUMPKIN SHOW CHIEFS CONFER ABOUT DETAILS

PIE EATING SCHEDULED
Question Of More Tents Important One For Directors

Recreation facilities for children attending the Pumpkin Show, local contests and amateur talent shows to take the place of free acts, and the problem of finances were the main topics discussed by directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society when they met in the Council Chamber Monday night.

Plans are being set up by the WPA recreation department to provide recreation facilities for small children attending the show and directors Monday night appropriated $15 for establishing a room in the downtown area where children might be left under the supervision of recreation leaders while their parents visit the show.

Another feature being planned by the recreation department is a series of contests to take the place of free acts. A pumpkin pie eating contest has already been organized and recreation leaders are working on several other events which they believe will attract attention.

Solicitation To Start
Solicitation for funds will start next Monday. Since directors have been forced to buy several new tents the problem of keeping finances from showing a deficit will be greater than last year. Secretary Mack Parrett told his colleagues that he has sold a sizable amount of space in the downtown section, although there are many desirable locations downtown which have not been filled.

Growing size of the livestock division caused officials of the Junior Fair to ask for two additional tents to house livestock. With the stock being held over until the sale Friday night, County Agent F. K. Blair said additional space should be obtained. Feeling that the expense of purchasing two additional tents would be more than the Pumpkin Show treasury could stand, directors voted to limit the Junior Fair to the space now allotted it.

A band schedule, showing where each visiting band is to play and at what time, is to be worked out by Dan McClain, director of parades. Show directors believe that such a method should make it easier for visitors to hear all the concerts.

Bands To Feature
The band program will be one of the features of the show this year with more than twenty bands scheduled to participate. Besides the Circleville high school band and the Junior band, six Class A bands will be here, all high school bands in the county and a number of school and lodge bands from adjoining counties.

The Circleville High School band will go to Jackson on Wednesday to play at Jackson's Apple Festival. Members of the band will be dismissed from their Wednesday afternoon classes in time to leave at 3 o'clock. Along with the band will go the 8-foot pumpkin constructed several years ago to advertise the show. The pumpkin will be hauled to Jackson on a truck loaned by the Hill Implement Company.

Show directors scheduled another meeting for October 6, the final meeting before the opening of the show on October 8.

Livestock Sale Friday of Show
Officials of the Pickaway County Livestock Association, Tuesday, agreed to sponsor the 4-H Club livestock sale on Friday of the Pumpkin Show.

County Agent F. K. Blair said he had talked with Harry Briggs, manager of the livestock association, and Mr. Briggs agreed to hold the sale on Friday evening. Holding the sale on that date will mean that livestock brought to the Pumpkin Show will be on exhibit two full days before being sold.

The sale will be held at Main and Pickaway Streets and will begin at 8 o'clock. Fat calves, pigs and lambs will be sold and County

RAILROAD CARS DETOURED AFTER TANK CAR FIRE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—Workmen today cleared the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad just northwest of Columbus, where 11 tank cars loaded with crude oil became derailed and were destroyed by fire. Meanwhile, traffic over the double-track main line was being detoured via Dayton.

The blaze, apparently ignited by a spark, occurred when a drawbar dropped between the 33rd and 34th cars of the 61-car train, automatically setting the brakes on the rest of the cars. They buckled and some of them jumped the track, 11 of them caught afire before the others could be hauled to safety. The 61 cars of crude oil, containing approximately 10,000 gallons each, were on their way to Philadelphia refineries to relieve the gasoline shortage on the eastern seaboard.

Agent Blair expects the sale to include nearly 50 head of livestock. Last year the sale was held on Wednesday afternoon of the Pumpkin Show and many of the select calves, sheep and pigs were taken away without being placed on exhibit.

BIG DAIRY BARN AT STATE FARM LOST IN FLAMES

LONDON, O., Sept. 16—Although believed to have been ignited by spontaneous combustion, authorities nevertheless pushed an investigation today into the origin of a $30,000 blaze which swept a large brick dairy barn at the London Prison Farm, semi-honor adjunct of Ohio Penitentiary.

Trustees and neighboring farmers led approximately 240 cattle from the blazing building to safety, and the fire departments of London and of the institution itself kept the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

The blaze was discovered in a straw stack in the center of the building, which has two wings. Twenty trustees, who sleep in a dormitory on the second floor, were routed by smoke and flames.

ASHVILLE

Rolland and Mrs. Featheringham, Main Street, had for over week end guests his father, mother and grandmother, Robert Featheringham, wife, and Mrs. Carrie Evans the 84-year-old grandmother. At home these visitors reside at Shadyside, Belmont County, a town of 4000 and in the heart of a good coal mining district. Met the elder Featheringham with the son down on the street Saturday and happened to have a couple pawpaws in hand which Bill Wallen, another 'possum food eater, had just given us. This kind of fruit was something new to our visitor, but took one along to sample it. Later report is, that he "tried it out" but didn't want anything smelling and tasting like that in his. So that leaves more for Bill and me.

He Will Remember

TODAY, he's just a little boy watching a fast freight thunder by. He doesn't realize, of course, that that freight train is carrying — not just freight — but fuel for the lamp of liberty and freedom.

But tomorrow — when he's a man — he'll remember those trains. He'll know, then, what an important part the American railroads played in shielding the great flame of democracy from the blackout of barbarism.

In the battle of mass production on which our national defense depends, the mass transportation of the railroads is a vital element. Never before has adequate, dependable railroad transportation meant so much to the people of America. Never before have railroads had a greater opportunity to serve their country.

It's a big job—and it's getting bigger all the time. How big it will eventually become, no one knows. But we do know this—So far, the railroads have met every transportation need. And they will continue to meet every need as long as it is humanly possible to do so.

So far, the nation's loyal army of one million railroaders has shown that it has the experience and the ability to handle the multiplying transportation demand. And every railroader will continue to do his utmost to keep the cars rolling from forests, farms, and mines — to factories and plants — and to ports and Army cantonments.

In the saner world of tomorrow, millions of American boys and girls will remember — gratefully — what we do now!

POWER AND FREEDOM

THE United States has not been primarily a commercial sea power as Britain has. Our primacy is mainly industrial.
And Britain's merchant marine is even now considerably ahead of ours. At any given moment, an English authority says, there are 2,000 British merchantmen at sea.

Our navy, though, is rapidly forging ahead of Britain's, partly from British war losses and latterly, more and more, from the new tonnage now sliding down our ship ways in a steady stream. We are already surpassing our naval production of the last war. And the stream will continue spreading while this war lasts.

Here is a natural response to the threats of the gangster powers. We suppressed our domestic gangsterism and now, in league with Britain, we are engaged in a similar job of world scope. We do it mainly by sea power, aided more and more by a natural alliance with air power.

We do this not merely for ourselves, no matter what the predatory powers say.
The freedom of the sea which Hitler and Mussolini profess to fight for was theirs as well as ours until they started their piratical burning and sinking and drowning. It will be theirs again after the war if they observe the international rules of the sea.
But the democracies and their allies may still have to keep control in order to keep the seas free for all.

CHANGING WORDS

A GROUP of scholars at the University of Michigan is editing a dictionary of Middle English. Their five volumes, to be ready for publication a few years hence, will reveal the "changing definitions of words, derivations of names, and spelling variations" of that period. The work is expected to supplement existing knowledge of life in England between 1100 and 1475.

An example of the revelations to be made may be found in the word "nice".
In 1290, explains the editor of the dictionary, "nice" meant foolish or stupid. In 1413 it meant strange; in 1440, lazy. It was not until 1769 that it had its present meaning.

Perhaps one should say its present meanings, for today's dictionaries show that it may be used to express a variety of ideas. Even if it had but one dictionary meaning, however, it might mean different things to different people. Human beings have an amazing capacity for misunderstanding each other even when they use the same language. It is no wonder that dictionary definitions change and multiply through the years.

If the war-thrift experts keep on telling motorists to "drive slow and save gas," we may soon be hearing again that ancient slogan, "Get a horse!"

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to another glorious morning of Fall, and later, up and down the street, did hear everyone praising the weatherman.
Noted traces of color on several trees and that brought thought of the hills in October. Not in five years have I seen the hills dressed in their Fall magic, for they have always been at their best the Sunday before Pumpkin Show and the Sunday before Pumpkin Show is a day of real work for everyone on these hills. But this year the Show is two weeks earlier than usual, and I hope the hills put off their best display until I am at liberty.

Eleven months ago he was a boy two years out of high school working on his father's farm.
Then, he decided that he should do something about this war in Europe so he went to Canada and enlisted in the R. A. F.
Yesterday, I met him, home on a nineteen day furlough. Wearing a sergeant pilot's uniform was Warren Straley, son of Ross Straley of two miles west of Williamsport. Stationed at Trenton, Ont.

Like service with the Canadians? Certainly. Treated grand.
Now, with more than 350 hours in the air, is serving as an instructor. Thinks American planes are the world's best, and hopes to man one sometime on the European front. Quite a boy, and one of whom we all may be proud.

Thought back to Sunday when with other newspapermen from all over Ohio was the guest of Roy and John Galvin at their annual outing in Lima. Circleville represented by seven, and the delegation would have been larger had we not been knee deep in Pumpkin Show work already.

Quite a party, that annual outing. More to eat and drink than is good for anyone, and then there is golf and numerous other contests. Opportunity to renew acquaintances, scores of men I see only once a year, men

I worked with for nine years in Lima. Saw my former dentist make a glorious drive at Shawnee Country Club and expressed regret that I was not close enough to scream "ouch" and ruin the take-off for him.

Enjoyed a fine chat with Roy Galvin, my former chief, who is one of the best observers I know and who is much less worried about the possibility of us getting into war than he is about the economic upheaval that will start with the peace signing. Delighted to see him looking so well, for last year and more so the year before, he seemed entirely too fragile.
Visited with John Galvin, president of these prints, who is just ending a long period of service as superintendent of speed at the State Fair and who, I understand, is to be drafted back into the same job once more.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

REASONS FOR ULTIMATUM

WASHINGTON—The group of Congressional leaders who conferred with the President before last week's historic broadcast got a much broader picture of the reasons behind the ultimatum than the President gave over the air.

He grimly informed his Capitol Hill chiefs that Hitler no longer could be trusted to respect the neutrality of American vessels anywhere in the world—that Hitler, in fact, had issued secret orders to "fire on sight".

Indeed, the President added gravely, the Fuehrer went so far as to instruct U-boat commanders to "search down" American vessels.

"We can have only one answer to this," Roosevelt said, in effect. "For our own safety, we must beat Hitler to the punch when we encounter him on the high seas. That is why American ships and planes which encounter German submarines and raiders, in waters that we deem necessary to our defense, have been ordered to shoot first."

The President went into some detail explaining the incident of the American battleship that was stalked by a Nazi submarine, to which he referred briefly in his broadcast.

"This happened before the Greer incident and it is further confirmation of our contention that, despite Nazi denials, the Greer was fired on first.

"I have a complete report from the commanding officer of the battleship, which was in the North Atlantic. This report shows that the sub maneuvered for four or five hours to get the battleship in a position where it could be torpedoed.
There is no question about the intention of the sub commander. He would have sunk the battleship if possible."

The President held that, in the light of this and other recent experiences, it would be fatal to assume that American vessels are any more secure from attack than British warships.

"We can only assume," he said, "that when a Nazi sub or raider is in the vicinity — or within firing distance — of an American ship, it is there for one purpose only — to sink the American ship."

MISSING WASHINGTON

After reading his address to the Congressional group, the President invited criticism. But except for one or two clarifications no changes were made.

One suggestion produced a merry interlude in the otherwise grim conference.
It came from House Foreign Affairs Chairman Sol Bloom, famous for so diligently promoting the anniversary of George Washington.

When the President read that part of the speech reviewing the measures against piracy taken by Presidents Adams and Jefferson, Bloom remarked:

"Why don't you mention George Washington? He sent a strong message to Congress on the necessity of protecting our vessels in time of war."

There was a loud laugh from Sol's colleagues.

Most favorable comment on the speech came from Senator Tom Connally of Texas and Representative Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, acting Speaker. Both warmly complimented the President's speech and

Crying's Good For You

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● Hats off to Dr. Arthur N. Foxe of New York who, for the first time so far as I know, has stated openly that crying should have a place in the medicine chest.

I used to know an old doctor who made his women patients cry at nearly every visit he paid to them by his bluntness. The women

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

always used to knock him when they met at the church socials but I noticed they always sent him the next time they were in the "dumps" or even when they were really sick.

Stoicism is all right and a very wholesome quality, but crying is an ability to endure trying circumstances. But one can question the type of stoicism which is present when there is no real need. Why shouldn't a man cry at his son's wedding? Why shouldn't you cry at the movies? That is why you go there. It is just as good as an aspirin or a teaspoon of magnesium sulfate.

Crying Helpful

Many forms of illness show a tendency to recovery after weeping or crying. If a sick person weeps in his first hour, it is considered a good omen. It should not be considered a weakness to cry.

Sometimes it is almost an impossibility to do so. Here it is a bad sign. We all know those who have received such a series of steady blows from the real world that it was well nigh impossible to resolve any one of these blows.
The degree of tension inside is extraordinary and continues for a long period of time.

If we look for a human pattern of crying, we must turn to the infant. At least one-third of its motions are expressed by screaming or crying. And it is considered proper to let the baby cry long enough to cry himself to sleep.

A mother who does not permit the child to cry by itself binds it more closely to her. A child that cries by itself undoubtedly achieves a great degree of independence from personal attachment. When the child is crying and the mother does not appear one must assume that child weans itself in a way.

Crying of Children

"Women often have asked me about this matter," says Dr. Foxe,
"and in one parent-teacher group it became an acute problem. I will confess that I was perplexed at first as to what to advise. In my perplexity, I have advised mothers to look ahead and to try to anticipate in what sort of a world their children will be living in their second, third, and even fourth decades of life and what they would prepare their children for, a hard or an easy life."

Mothers naturally want to go to the child who is crying, but the mother who lets an infant cry it out does in the long run accomplish more for her child. As you will see, these are not easy problems and I do not believe the solution lies in either extreme.

At any rate, let us gently scan our fellow man and allow him to cry when he wishes. It may be better for him than a bottle of vitamins or a good dose of salts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. N.: "What effect has bowling on an arrested TB case? Does it cause the scar tissues to break?"

Answer: It all hinges on the word "arrested." Do you mean arrested or cured? If cured, how sure are you it is cured? For an arrested case, I think bowling is too strenuous a sport. Not because it breaks up healed spots in the lungs, but because any exertion of that extent may start the process anew. If cured, then bowling is all right.

Constant Reader:—"I. I am suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs. I live in an extremely dusty and sandy place. Is this detrimental to me? 2. When one has recovered from tuberculosis should he carry a lot of extra weight? 3.
Is a person in danger of taking tuberculosis from another with an active case even though he is not coughing? 4. Does a person ever run a temperature with a nervous breakdown?"

Answer—1. Yes, living in a dusty place is certainly detrimental to tuberculosis of the lungs. 2. During treatment, the patient with tuberculosis usually gains weight, but it is not necessary to carry this after a cure has been accomplished. 3. Yes. 4. No, a person with a nervous breakdown does not carry a temperature and the idea that they do is liable to lead to a postponement of treatment. A nervous breakdown and tuberculosis often are much the same in symptoms. To ascribe the temperature to the nervous breakdown is wishful thinking.

A Ride in a Paper Boat

By MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Leaving New York for Miami to marry again.
HALLIE SINGLETON, a fashion model, reminisces about the time, six years before, when she was 21 and had just met
ERIC ADAMS, a young would-be actor.

YESTERDAY: Eric goes with Hallie to stay at her home while his broken arm heals. He meets her mother.

CHAPTER FOUR

HALLIE SWUNG her racket with a sharp undercut—and missed.
"Toby's game," Louise Witherspoon called from the bench beside the tennis court. "Who's going to take me on?"

"Toby," Hallie answered, dropping a little breathlessly beside her friend. "The man's a demon, Lou.
He could beat the whole Davis team single-handed. I'm going up to see about some cool drinks. Harriet and Ed and the Wooleys will be here any minute and they've been promised food."

"Come on, Louise," the tall young giant named Toby Fennell called. "I've just time for one more set."

"Toby! Can't you stay and meet my friends?"
Toby shook his head sadly. "Got a rehearsal at five, Miss Hallie."

"Toby takes his career seriously.
I forgot to tell you that." It was Eric who spoke. He'd been watching the tennis from the terrace, but now he came down to join them.

"There are a lot of things you didn't tell me about your friend," Hallie said when they were out of ear-shot of the other two.
"What, for instance?"

"That he's tremendously likeable and that he plays the best game of tennis I've seen around these parts. We must have him often. Or any of your other friends from the company. After all, this is your house now, Eric."

"Why are you so anxious to meet my friends, Hallie?" Hallie said, "I hadn't thought about it, only . . . well, I thought you might feel . . . only, you have so much in common with them that it might make it less lonely for you. After all, you care about the theater and our family can't do much about keeping you in touch.
I don't want it to be dull for you."

"Dull? Here?" Eric stopped for a moment on the steps and let his glance encompass the house and garden and linger at last on her face. "Never! These two weeks have been pretty fine. Your Dad has made me feel like one of the family and . . ."

"That's because you play chess and let him win."
"And you have been . . . well, something I can't put into words.
I just never knew any girl could be as sweet. You pamper me and I love it."

"Maybe I like it, too, Eric, but you ask Susan to bring red tea and sandwiches to the east terrace? I want to run along and change before the others get here."

A yellow taxicab sounded a long blast on its horn and Hallie stopped in her tracks. "Eric, look! The town's only taxi! No one's ever been known to use it. It must be someone looking for Dad."

Eric was lighting a cigarette, holding it to the match in Hallie's hand.
"I'll go . . ." she said.

"Just a minute," Eric's hand detained her. He threw away his cigarette. Something in his tone drew Hallie's eyes and they followed his glance to the girl getting out of the taxicab.

She was a very pretty girl. That was what Hallie saw at first through the eyes of her heart, which was well aware of something different in Eric's tone and gesture.
Very pretty, indeed, with glistering dark hair that fell to her shoulders under a wide-brimmed flower-laden leghorn hat. The hat and the cheap little ruffled organdie dress, which reminded Hallie instantly of the costumes worn in the chorus of a musical comedy where the scene is "the terrace of a fashionable Long Island country estate," labeled its wearer a stranger to any of the people that Hallie knew.

She was taking a coin from a not-too-clean white purse when Hallie and Eric reached the top of the steps.

"How do you do," Hallie said.
The girl turned then and saw them. "How do you do," she said formally, looking past Hallie to the boy, saying, "Well, this is a surprise! I thought you'd still be in bed."

There was a little pause and then Eric said, "Oh, no, I'm up and about, and forgetting my manners, as usual, Hallie, this is Miss Sherman . . . She'll, Miss Singleton, my hostess."

"Hostess?" Miss Sherman said.
"Pleased to meet you," she took off a ruffled white net glove and gave her hand to Hallie. "Hope I didn't intrude on anything."

"Not at all," Hallie said pleasantly.

"I just came to pay a sick call to an old friend."

"That was very nice of you, Miss Sherman. I'm glad you came today. I want Eric to have his friends here, and now you can meet some of mine. We're just about to have tea . . . cold tea because we've been having some strenuous tennis."

"Awfully nice of you, I'm sure," the other girl said. "But maybe if you're having a party I should have kept my taxi. I would have, only I thought that Eric would be glad to have me and ask me to stay."

"Eric does want you to stay. I'm afraid he's a little shy about having guests here yet. I don't think we've made him feel completely at home."

The dark girl's eyes were on Eric. "I think you have," she said.
Hallie turned to him. "Eric, take

Miss Sherman down to the others and I'll join you as soon as I've changed." She hurried away with a set little smile and she heard the girl say, "Well, what have you got to say for yourself? Haven't they got any telephones in this mansion?"

Showering hurriedly, slipping into a crisp linen dress, Hallie was thinking of the mused ruffles, the heavy mascara, the bow to crowd out the implication of those last words she had overheard. And remembering all the time how anxious Eric had been for her not to go to get his things at the boarding house. He had been apprehensive, she knew now, that she might meet Sheila Sherman. Because Sheila was important to him in some way, else Hallie would not have been aware of what that moment on the terrace meant to him when he threw away his unsmoked cigarette. He did not want the two girls to meet.

She brushed her hair, powdered her nose and then, with a new distaste for lipstick, put down the one she had picked up and went down to join her guests.

Harriet Mabey and Ed Hartford and Nell and Tommy Wooley had come. They were all sitting on the lawn and Toby Fennell had them in gales of laughter with some millery. Miss Sherman had removed her hat and gloves, and she alone was not laughing. Her eyes were fixed on Eric Adams.

"Hello, everybody!" Hallie greeted them. "I see you all know each other. . . . Surely you didn't wait for me? Louise, will you give me a cold drink? . . . And Miss Sherman wants a light, somebody."

Three people struck matches for Miss Sherman, who said graciously,
"Oh, don't mind me. I'm just an accidental addition to this party."

Toby Fennell reached her side in three strides and, putting his arm about her shoulders, gave them a little squeeze. "She's mad about me, folks. Aren't you, dear? And isn't that why you trailed me here? Can't let me out of her sight for a stare!" For a moment his eyes crossed the space to where Louise Witherspoon, whom he'd met only three hours before, stood.

"Mad about YOU!" Sheila Sherman said, and she gave him a stare that was genuinely wide-eyed.

"And we've been keeping him from you," Hallie said, never looking at Eric. "He really tried to get away, Miss Sherman. He said he had a rehearsal at five."

"And so I have," Toby said promptly. "But I thought I'd be half an hour late. And time's up.
Come, darling, we've got to go."
He caught Sheila's hand.

Sheila said, "Thanks for the hospitality, Miss Singleton." Her glance swept the little group and lingered on Eric. "I'll be seeing you."

New Officers in Charge As P.T.A. Has Meeting

Washington Group Has 75 Persons At Inaugural

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Washington Township Parent-Teacher Association met Monday at the school with 75 members present for the first meeting of the school year. The new officers were in their chairs, Miss Nellie Kuhn heading the staff as president. Mrs. Marvin Steeley is vice president; Mrs. Elmon Richards, secretary, and Ralph Betz, treasurer.

Miss Kuhn announced her year committees during the business session. Oakley Leist will serve as chairman of the membership committee comprised of Mrs. A. W. Bosworth, Mrs. Ralph Betz, Mrs. Stanley C. Oman and M. M. Bowman. The finance committee includes Ralph Betz, chairman, Howard Huston, A. W. Bosworth, Mrs. Boyd Stout and Mrs. Harry Parker; hospitality, Mrs. C. J. Hill, chairman, Mrs. Walter Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rife, Mrs. William Goode and Mrs. Russell Andrews; publicity, Miss Lois Engle; publications, Alton Noggle and E. A. McCoy; year program, Mrs. M. M. Bowman, chairman, Mrs. R. C. Palm, Miss Edith Spangler, Mrs. Floy Brobst and Boyd Stout.

The association decided to donate $15 to supplement lunches of needy children of the school. It was decided also that the group would join the State and National Associations. The regular meeting date was set for the third Monday of each month at 8 p. m. The following program was enjoyed, Mrs. Harry Rife presenting a poem, "Another If," for the first number; piano solo, "Autumn Sunset," by Martha Bolender; a talk on interesting facts about Pickaway County, Boyd Stout, and two poems, "Hello" and "Superstitions," by Mrs. Bowman.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Rife and her committee.

Sorensen-Wright
Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Irene Esther Wright of Columbus to Mr. William F. Sorensen II of Baltimore, Md., son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sorensen of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernell J. Wright of New Holland.

The Rev. J. L. Ward read the single ring ceremony Wednesday, September 10, at 5:45 p. m. in the Methodist parsonage on Washington Boulevard, Baltimore.

Black accessories were worn by the bride who chose for her marriage a flag blue transparent velvet frock trimmed in rhinestone clips.

The bride, a graduate of the New Holland High School in the class of 1934, has been connected with the Montgomery Ward and Co. in Washington, D. C. and Columbus for the last four years. She plans to continue her work at the Columbus store for the present.

Mr. Sorensen is associated with Montgomery Ward and Co. of Baltimore. He served with the Merchant Marines for a few years and is a reserve pilot in the air corps.

No definite plans for the future are being announced.

Papyrus Club
The Circleville Papyrus Club met Monday at the home of Miss Nell Weldon, South Scioto Street, with 10 members present. Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, outgoing president, conducted the opening business session, received reports of year committees and took care of the unfinished business of the year.

When the session was turned to Mrs. Charles Gilmore, new president, plans were discussed for the work of the coming year.

The program included original work, Mrs. A. Hulse Hays reading an original contributed poem. The Rev. L. C. Sherburne read a group of his quatrains and reported the sale of several. Mrs. W. W. Robinson reviewed the fifth chapter of the study book on "Setting," open discussion following.

Members present included Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hays, Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt, Mrs. E. O. Crites, Mrs. Richard Jones, Miss Margaret Rooney, Mrs. Downing, Mrs. Gilmore, George W. Groom and the Rev. Mr. Sherburne.

The next session will be Monday, September 29, at the home of Mr. Groom, West Mount Street. All sessions of the Papyrus Club are scheduled for alternate Mondays with the Monday Club.

Reds And Dodgers Put On Fiasco In 17-Round Fray

By Jack Mahon

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—Six weeks ago he was a tired, disinterested, old man—as baseball players go—a cast-off of the St. Louis Browns, one of the poorest teams in baseball, but today Johnny Allen, 35-year-old perennial problem pitcher of the big leagues, was a hero to the bums of Brooklyn and a star of a ball game unprecedented in the history of the National League.

Allen was the big hero yesterday as Brooklyn's battling Dodgers fought with their hearts and their heads through 16 scoreless innings, then survived a ghastly 17th to whip Cincinnati, 5 to 1, and stretch their league lead to two full games over the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

For 15 innings, Allen, who had been within one pitch of a no-hitter in the first nine innings (yielding only a single) fought back each challenge of the Reds and big Paul Derringer. He was relieved for a pinch-runner in the 16th, to no avail, and after Relief Hurler Hugh Casey had blanked the Reds in their turn, Umpires Goetz, Reardon and Conlan decided to have the teams play one more inning. If no score resulted—they would call the game.

Exhibition Put On

It seemed there would be sufficient light to play one more frame but, when Pete Reiser opened the 17th with his 13th homer, a 380-foot drive into the right center-field stands, the Reds decided to stall—but on one of the weirdest exhibitions in history.

They tried everything. They changed pitchers, delayed going to the plate, argued, refused to watch runners, refused to tag a runner out on the baseline and, in a thoroughly undisguised, unsportsmanlike performance for a team mathematically out of the pennant race, turned a great ball game into a baseball burlesque show.

Camilli followed with a single to left and Riggs singled to center, sending Dolf to third. That ended Derringer and, after some grade a time-wasting, Joe Beggs replaced him. Darnness was gathering the field to its bosom as the Dodgers, realizing the Reds' intentions, rushed to the batters' box.

Ball Juggled Around

Medwick hit to Beggs who fiddled with the ball, then made a vain, half-hearted attempt to get Riggs at second, Camilli scoring. Reese tapped in front of the plate but West kicked it around long enough till all were safe.

"Strike out," "strike out," yelled the few Dodger fans in the audience, so Mickey Owen swung at everything that came up to the plate—and finally socked a clean single into left field to score Riggs and Medwick.

Manager Bill McKenchie called another conference and sent Jim Turner in for Beggs. By this time it was so dark the Red left fielder, Mike McCormick, could not be seen from the press box.

The Dodgers were trying to strike out legitimately; the Reds were trying to stall—any way they could. Base runners walked around like tourists—unnoticed by the Reds.

Casey finally bounced to the box and, unwillingly, Turner tossed to Werber forcing Reese for the first out. Then, with men on first and second and one out, Dixie Walker hit a pop fly between short and third. Werber and Joost let it fall between them. Though the infield fly rule automatically retired Dixie neither the Red fielders nor the umpires appeared to realize it.

Mickey Owen, who was on second, did, and ran half-heartedly to third hoping he would be tagged out. This would have constituted the third out. Joost refused to make a play for Owen, so Mickey stopped a foot from third base and waited to be tagged. Joost lobbed the ball, bean-bag fashion, to Werber but Billy wouldn't touch Mickey.

The umpires finally ruled Walker out but couldn't do anything about Owen, who was ordered to stay at third. He promptly scored on a wild pitch. Billy Herman then won the undying gratitude of his weary mates by fanning to end the inning.

Stall At Plate

The Reds continued their stalling. Casey, pitching extra fast, only made matters worse by working all batters to long counts. Pinch-hitter Gleason finally fouled to Riggs, but M. McCormick walked on four pitches and Craft beat out a roller Herman could scarcely see. Zientara also walked filling the bases and here Pee Wee Reese made the play that saved the ball game.

Pinch-batter Ernie Koy, batting for Turner, slammed a hard grounder between third and short but Reese tore over, nabbed it and fired it to Herman, forcing Zientara, McCormick scoring. Eddie Joost, a ghost in a sea of blackness, finally ended a dream ball game that wound up as a nightmare, by bouncing to Casey who tossed him out.

MORE COUNTY LAND TO BE DEVOTED TO FOODSTUFFS IN 1942

AAA APPROVES MORE ACREAGE IN VEGETABLES

REGULATIONS SET UP

Mistakes Of First World War Teach Lessons, Chairman Says

A new farm program which will put approximately 20 percent more land in Pickaway County into production of foodstuffs for National Defense in 1942 was announced Tuesday by County AAA Chairman John G. Boggs.

Officials estimate that the new program will release between 69,000 and 70,000 acres for vegetables and grain crops including corn and wheat. Under the new farm program about 202,000 acres of crop land will be allotted for soil depleting crops, compared with 133,373 acres in 1941.

The new program is one which will affect every farmer in Pickaway County. Special allotments for such surplus crops as corn, wheat and tobacco will be retained under the 1942 program, but there will be no total depleting allotments.

Chairman Boggs explained the new program with the following example: If a farmer has 100 acres of cropland, he is required to devote 20 acres to conserving crops. If he has a 20-acre corn allotment and a 20-acre wheat allotment, he can put the remaining 40 acres in any other crop he wishes.

To Permit Commodities

The program will continue to adjust production of surplus crops, but will open up the production of commodities needed to fill United States domestic needs for National Defense and for nations resisting aggression. Conservation of the soil will be a major factor in the 1942 program, since one-fifth of the cropland must be devoted to crops that protect the land.

Soil building allowance will be computed on the basis of the difference between the sum of the special allotments and the total cropland. This difference is multiplied by 70 cents to determine the amount which the farmer can earn by carrying out soil-building practices.

"Our new program will prevent the mistakes of the first World War which brought a long series of difficulties for farmers," Chairman Boggs said.

Through the machinery of the National Farm Program, farmers can produce what is needed and avoid the bad after-effects of an over-expanded farm plant. The fact that the program calls for greatly increased production of some commodities does not mean that the lid is off on production of all commodities, AAA officials warned, and they pointed out that it was just as important to National Defense and future welfare to hold production of some commodities in check as it was to increase supplies of others.

Beans, Vegetables Urged

Crops which will be encouraged under the program will be soybeans and vegetables, foodstuffs which can be consumed domestically or shipped abroad.

FAYETTE ENGINEER PLANS COUNTY RESURFACING JOB

WASHINGTON C. H., Sept. 16.—Engineer George A. Gregg has announced a county-wide road resurfacing project which will result in repair work on more than 65 miles of county roads.

The work will cost approximately $32,000 and brings a total black top mileage in Fayette County to 120 miles, Gregg said. Officials hope to complete the repair work before winter.

Wins Freedom

CHARGING cruelty, Mrs. Warren Barbour was granted a divorce in Laramie, Wyo., from U. S. Senator W. Warren Barbour of New Jersey. She received custody of three minor children. The Barbours were married in 1921.

MANY COUNTIANS AT STATE FARM BUREAU CONFAB

The state-wide Farm Bureau field day, held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus, Wednesday, attracted approximately 150 farm folk from Pickaway County.

Of local interest was Mary Alice Smith, 17-year-old daughter of Grafton Smith, Ashville, who led the Pickaway County Band in the big parade during the morning program.

The parade, stretching out for nearly two miles, included 50 bands and 80 floats depicting the cooperative program throughout Ohio. The Grand Assembly of all bands, over 1,500 players, was staged before the Grandstand under the leadership of Louis E. Pete, nationally known band master.

For the barbecued lunch, 50 steers were roasted and served. Awarding of prizes, including over 100 items of merchandise, was held in front of the grandstand at the close of the program.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

predicted that "all true Americans will applaud it."

Note: The Washington message to which Bloom referred was sent to Congress December 7, 1796, and dealt with the necessity of protecting our sovereignty on the seas during the war between France and England. It stated in part: "To secure respect to a neutral flag requires a naval force, organized and ready to vindicate it from insult or aggression. This may even prevent the necessity of going to war by discouraging belligerent powers from committing such violations of the rights of the neutral party as may first or last leave no other option."

FIRST LADY

Mrs. Roosevelt may soon work for the Government for one dollar a year. That is, she will if Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia persuades her to take charge of the Women's Division of his Civil Defense Administration.

Mrs. Roosevelt is intensely interested in civil defense and several months ago, seriously considered visiting Britain to study civil defense measures under actual war conditions. Because of matters of state, this plan did not materialize.

Actually, behind the scenes, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very active in the Civil Defense Administration. LaGuardia confers with her frequently and several of her suggestions have been followed.

She is especially interested in bringing women into a prominent role in the CDA and at a recent press conference gently criticized LaGuardia for not doing this. The shaft went home and he is now using it as his chief argument in urging the First Lady to take charge of Women's Division.

Note: The dynamic little New York mayor is telling friends that he has no intention of quitting as Civil Defense Administrator.

SENATOR "PAPPY"

SCENE: Radio room in the House office building, Washington.

TIME: Any Thursday evening.

CHARACTERS: Senator Lee O'Daniel ("Pass the Biscuits, Pappy") and his hill-billy band. The Senator from Texas, with his troupe, has come to the studio to make a recording. Immediately after the show, records of the performance are shipped to 14 radio stations in the Lone Star State.

The hill-billy band has a hard time warming up Ezra, with his accordion; Micky Wicky (O'Daniel's son), with his bull fiddle; Texas Rose, singer; Caesar and Happy, with their violins, and the Texas songbird, with guitar and voice—plus the maestro himself—struggle a long time.

Pappy is displeased. "Micky, raise that bull fiddle . . . Ezra, get'rout' to the other side of the mike . . . No, no, it ain't right; let's try it a key lower."

Finally, the Senator spits out his chewing gum, and the happy company swings into a rendition of "Beautiful Texas."

This is a musical prelude to set folks to feelin' right. Then Pappy steps up to the microphone to greet the home folks as a Senator in Washington, tells them how he misses Texas, bee-utiful Texas, how he helped remove joint-returns from the new tax bill and thus "prevented Texas mothers from becoming chattel slaves." Then, as the half-hour show is over, Pappy congratulates himself on being the composer of two songs on the program, but complains that this radio business is expensive.

"Back in the days when I was campaigning for Governor," he says, "they offered me $2,000 a program. While I was Governor, I got free time on the air. But now I'm havin' to pay good money to go on the air."

Those who heard the show could well understand.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The crack office staff of the late Senator Pat Harrison has now been given White House jobs at the personal order of President Roosevelt. . . . Further tell-tale sign of John L. Lewis' undercover campaign to recapture the CIO presidency; although he has no open control over the CIO News, weekly organ supposed to represent all CIO unions, its last two issues have been filled with pro-Lewis articles. Who ordered this policy change, the leftist editors, closely allied with Lewis, refuse to say. . . . The South Salt Lake, Utah, Kiwanis Club has launched a nationwide drive to organize Kiwanis clubs in South America.

TEMPERATURE TO REMAIN HIGH IN PICKAWAY AREA

Summer temperatures will continue to prevail in the Circleville area Tuesday and Wednesday with the barometer pointing to "cloudy and warmer."

Temperatures Monday reached a high of 87 degrees and fell during the night to a low of 56.

Farmers in the county are taking advantage of the fair weather to finish their corn cutting, which is nearing completion in many sections.

The weather also has favored squirrel hunters, although few squirrels were reported killed in the county Monday.

HOCKING COUNTY FAIR TO START WEDNESDAY

LOGAN, Sept. 16.—Late plans are being completed for the opening of Hocking County's fair on Wednesday. Tents and rides are being erected on the fairgrounds and exhibits are being set up.

The horse show, under the supervision of Mrs. Earl Elberfeld, will be held Thursday evening and is expected to attract good crowds. The Logan high school band and glee club will present a program on Wednesday evening of the fair.

N. & W. FAMILY ASKED TO HELP DEFENSE PLANS

Asserting that the Norfolk and Western Railway and its employees have met all transportation requirements of the increased defense traffic "satisfactorily and efficiently," W. J. Jenks, N. & W. president, in a message to the railroad's workers, urged the employees to "continue to meet the demands made on the railroad and on each individual engaged in its operation and maintenance."

He told the workers that "your railroad is playing an important part in the defense program," and pointed out that about 10 percent of all the bituminous coal mined in the United States is produced by mines located in N. & W. territory. The rail executive added that "the greater part of our coal tonnage goes to steel mills and to other leading industries which are engaged, directly and indirectly, in the construction of battleships, planes, tanks, guns; and in the manufacture of powder and scores of other defense products."

"Norfolk and Western employees," Mr. Jenks said, "are accustomed to difficult jobs. They have never failed to cope successfully with them in the past." He expressed confidence that the railroad's employees "will measure up to any job that they may be called upon to handle during and after this emergency."

In normal times the railroads buy and use one-fifth of all the timber cut in the United States.

KIWANIANS ENJOY MUSIC AND PROGRAM OF VARIETY

Kiwanians were entertained Monday evening at their meeting in Hanley's tearoom by a group of youngsters who sang, played the piano and recited. The children were trained at the various WPA Recreation Centers of the city, and were taken to the meeting by Delos H. Marcy, WPA administrator.

The club also heard George Johnson of Ashland, Ky., who represents Ohio University, discuss the government's vocational training program which will be started in Circleville about October 1 if enough applications for instruction are received. It was announced that the club's annual election of officers would be conducted September 29, with the slate of officers to be nominated at the meeting next week.

Guests Monday evening included John Kader of Brooklyn, N. Y., father-in-law of Dr. David Goldschmidt, and E. A. Durler of Oshkosh, Wis., father-in-law of Harold Limback.

Notched Stick Tells Sea Drama

ONE of the three survivors of the torpedoed freighter Sessa, First Mate H. J. Rjerrejaard, is pictured with the stick that he marked off the 29 days that he and five of the Sessa's crew were adrift before being picked up by the U. S. destroyer Lansdale. This "log" of the days their boat was adrift also tells of the three men in the boat who died of exposure.

Germans Renew Island Attacks

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 16—Renewed German attacks on the Russian-held Baltic Islands of Oesel and Dagoe were reported in dispatches from Helsinki today.

The reports to Stockholm said both Oesel and Dagoe Islands have been surrounded by extensive minefields.

(Editor's Note: The official Russian midnight war communique said a German attempt to capture Oesel Island had been completely "smashed" with four troop-laden transports and a destroyer sunk.)

Military advices from Helsinki said the Germans unleashed the new attacks on Oesel and Dagoe Islands after capturing the Estonian island of Wormsoe.

Wormsoe Island was described as a favorable strategic point for launching the assaults against the other Baltic isles.

Oesel and Dagoe Islands were said to be the last points in the Baltic from which the Russians can support their own submarine activity in the Baltic Sea.

Soviet submarines are still plying between the two islands and the great Soviet naval base at Kronstadt, which recently was reported under attack by German land forces.

Meanwhile, Helsinki reports added, Russian General Nienontsov at the former Finnish Hango fortress has been busy fortifying Hango Peninsula and the nearby small but important Russaroe and Busoe islands.

MOSCOW, Sept. 16 — Four troop-laden German transports were sunk and an escorting Nazi destroyer also was sent to the bottom, the Soviet high command announced today in a communique relating the defeat of a German attempt to capture Oesel Island in the Baltic.

The five vessels were declared to have been sunk while approaching for the disastrous attack.

Two other large German transports were reported sunk in the Barents Sea by Russian torpedo boats and submarines.

The Soviet midnight war communique said the Nazi expedition to Oesel Island was completely "smashed" and that several other German destroyers and transport vessels were seriously damaged.

Combined Russian naval, aerial and coast artillery action frustrated the Nazi attempt, according to the war bulletin.

Oesel Island and nearby Dagoe Island in the Baltic have remained strong Soviet outposts despite virtually complete German occupation of the Estonian mainland.

Shortage Discovered
COLUMBUS, Sept. 16 — An examination of books of the Wapakoneta Building and Savings Co., indicated a $95,000 shortage, Charles S. Merion, state building and loan superintendent, asserted today. He placed the 60-year-old institution in liquidation yesterday.

Others included in the call are Emmitt Dwight Timmons, Ashville Route 1; Harry Allen Keller, Williamsport Route 2; Blenn Leon Stevenson, Circleville, and Charles Lawrence Julian, Laurelville Route 1.

The contingent of eight will meet in the Court House at 7:15 a. m., where the men will be given final instructions before leaving by bus for the induction station at Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Next Monday, September 22, the local board will fill a call for one colored registrant by sending Milton Henry, 586 East Franklin Street, to Columbus for induction.

NAVY OPERATES UNDER ORDERS TO FIRE FIRST

Hitler's Stand On Warning From Washington Remains Unknown

'Escort' For All Lend-Lease Goods To Iceland Area Official Now

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — A virtual state of naval warfare exists today between the United States and Germany and Italy as American warships patrol the western side of the Atlantic with orders to "capture or destroy" any axis submarines found between this continent and Iceland.

Today represents the first time since America's participation in the World War that American warships are patrolling the Atlantic with orders to shoot first at German warships.

Disclosure that the United States Navy would start operating under such orders today was made by Secretary of the Navy Knox in his speech to the American Legion convention at Milwaukee yesterday.

Official and diplomatic Washington is waiting tensely for some word to indicate whether Adolf Hitler has ordered German submarines withdrawn from the American side of the Atlantic, or whether he intends to defy this government's determination to clear the sea lanes between the United States and Iceland of axis warships.

Incident Expected

If Hitler has decided to meet the American challenge, it is expected another shooting incident will occur shortly.

TRIAL IN AKRON CHURCH MURDER NEARS ITS END

AKRON, Sept. 16—The defense in the cremation murder trial of Albert B. Lukens, 58-year-old North Hills Methodist Church janitor, was expected to rest today when the trial resumes.

County Prosecutor Alva J. Russell said he would follow the defense with five or six rebuttal witnesses after he accused Lukens yesterday of thinking he had committed the "perfect crime," in the slaying of Ruth Zwicker, 23, church organist, and the cremation of her body in the church furnace on last Easter Sunday.

"There had been no crime committed," was Lukens' reply. He also denied that he had choked the girl while attempting to kiss her as he spent the day on the stand, fighting to escape the electric chair on a charge of first degree murder.

Draft Board Assigns Men To Fill Call For Eight; Henry Youth Goes Monday

The 21-year-olds include James Howard Nungster, Circleville Route 1, a volunteer; Roy Allen Conrad, Circleville Route 4; George Edwin Terflinger, Mt. Sterling Route 2, and Marvin Merritt Dountz, Orient Route 1.

Others included in the call are Emmitt Dwight Timmons, Ashville Route 1; Harry Allen Keller, Williamsport Route 2; Blenn Leon Stevenson, Circleville, and Charles Lawrence Julian, Laurelville Route 1.

The contingent of eight will meet in the Court House at 7:15 a. m., where the men will be given final instructions before leaving by bus for the induction station at Fort Hayes, Columbus.

PRO-NAZI SHAH OF IRAN QUILTS

British, Russians Move On Teheran; Crown Prince Takes Throne

LONDON, Sept. 16—Shah Riza Khan Pahlavi of Iran abdicated his throne today according to word reaching London, and British and Russian troops immediately began to march on Teheran.

Abdication of the Shah was announced in a Teheran radio broadcast which was picked up in London.

A few minutes later the British radio broadcast this report from its special correspondent in the Near East:

"British and Russian armored forces are moving in to occupy Teheran.

"The Russians are less than 30 minutes away."

The British announcer stated the above report had "just been received" from the correspondent.

Reports reaching the British capital indicated the Shah had departed from Teheran by automobile.

His oldest son, the crown prince of Iran, was said to have been named his successor.

The crown prince of Iran—now evidently the Shah—is Shahpur Mohammed Riza, who in 1939 married Princess Hawzle, eldest sister of the king of Egypt.

The special broadcast of the Teheran radio as received in London stated:

"Because of ill health, the Shah abdicated in favor of his son, the crown prince, following a meeting of parliament."

British authorities said the government here had anticipated the Shah's abdication and charged he was responsible for "much misrule" and continually blocked new government's efforts at reformation.

They declared that since British troops have been in Iran, the Shah worked "hand in hand" with Germany. (Continued on Page Two)

CHAMPION DRUM MAJOR TO ATTEND BIG SHOW

Robert Dawson of Dayton, one of the nation's outstanding drum majors, will attend the Pumpkin Show October 9 and will serve as judge of a drum majors' contest being conducted that evening. Dawson will also put on an exhibition of baton swinging.

He will serve as drum major this year for the University of Dayton band.

HOUSE PUTS ITS OKEH ON MAJOR TAXATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The House without a record vote today gave its approval to the highest tax bill in the nation's history, designed to put $3,553,400,000 annually into the treasury.

The measure now goes to the senate for final action, and then to the White House.

Major provisions of the bill are: Lowering of income tax exemptions so that married couples earning $1,500 and single persons with incomes as low as $750 a year, will be compelled to pay direct taxes. Existing exemptions are $2,000 and $800, and the change will require 4,930,000 new persons to file tax returns.

Sharp increases in existing income tax rates, especially in the lower and middle brackets where some of the levies will be doubled or even tripled.

Imposition of many new excise, or so-called "hidden" taxes, which are in effect a federal sales tax on certain commodities or services.

Steep increases in corporation income and stock taxes and in excess profits taxes to make business concerns contribute more to the defense program.

COMMANDER OF CAVALRY OUTFIT HURT SERIOUSLY

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 16—Col. Woods King, commanding officer of the 107th Cavalry and widely known Cleveland, O., real estate operator, was in an Army base hospital today after suffering serious injury during the Second Army vs. Third Army war maneuvers.

Col. King was hurt when a scout car in which he was riding was forced into a ditch by another army vehicle when operating in last night's blackout. He suffered fracture of some ribs and possible kidney abrasions.

Lieut. Col. Ralph King, brother of Col. King and executive officer of the 107th Cavalry, succeeded to command of the unit.

JAPS HOLD UP AMERICAN SHIP

Nipponese Demand Cargo Of Oil Be Unloaded In Shanghai Port

SHANGHAI, Sept. 16—Japanese authorities today held up the departure for Manila of the American merchant ship Zoella Lykes.

The Japanese demanded that the freighter unload in Shanghai its cargo of barreled oil consigned to Manila. The vessel had already unloaded flour and a small consignment of oil for the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Agents of the American President Lines were negotiating for the release of the ship whose sailing has already been delayed for twenty four hours.

COURT ASKED TO FREE MAN HELD SINCE JANUARY

An attempt to release John T. White, Clarksburg, W. Va., confined to County Jail where he has awaited trial for the last eight months, was made Tuesday when his attorney, C. A. Weldon, submitted a motion in Common Pleas Court calling for dismissal of the case on grounds of lack of prosecution.

Judge Meeker Terwilliger overruled the motion and called for the case to be heard Monday as scheduled. Judge Terwilliger instructed Clerk of Courts A. L. Wilder to send notices to prospective jurors Thursday.

Reading a lengthy plea which cited numerous decisions and quoting sections of the Ohio constitution which grant prisoners just and speedy trials, Attorney Weldon asked that the charges against White be dropped.

White was indicted in 1937 for allegedly giving the Pickaway Livestock Association a $3,200 bad check as payment on a shipment of hogs. He was brought into the county on January 17, 1941 after serving a sentence in Lincoln, Neb., for a similar charge. Before Judge Terwilliger, White pleaded innocent and was placed in County Jail in default of $1,000 bond payment.

Emmett L. Crist, employed to assist Prosecutor George Gerhardt in the case, agreed that the case had been delayed, but through no fault of the state, since depositions could not be secured because of the illness of a Clarksburg court reporter. Prosecutor Gerhardt was also present in the courtroom during the hearing.

ESCAPED KILLER NABBED

LONDON, Sept. 16—Steve Bolan, 37, Hamilton County killer and one of three men who escaped from the state prison farm on August 13, has been returned to custody, it was announced today. He was arrested and identified by Louisville, Ky., police. Robert Hileman, 37, serving a life term for second degree murder, and Lovell Horsley, 35, serving 15 years for assault and robbery, are still at large.

NINE RUSSIAN DIVISIONS HIT

Terrific Fight Near Lake Ilmen Brings Disaster To Many Soviets

BERLIN, Sept. 16—"Complete annihilation" of nine Red army divisions in a terrific battle south of Lake Ilmen on the Russo-German front was announced by the German high command today.

The war communique issued from Chancellor Hitler's headquarters said nine other Russian divisions had been "smashed."

At the same time, the Germans announced that their forces, after several days of violent fighting, had crossed the lower Dnieper at many points, and were victoriously advancing on the broad front eastward into the Ukraine.

Lake Ilmen is situated on the northern sector of the front, south and slightly west of besieged Leningrad.

The high command war bulletin stated 53,000 Russian prisoners were taken as well as 320 tanks and 695 field guns.

Equipment Wrecked

In addition, it was stated, German forces either captured or destroyed large additional quantities of Russian war equipment.

The German armies which accomplished this latest victory were said to be operating under command of Gen. Von Busch.

According to the Nazi high command the 18 wrecked Soviet divisions—half of which were "annihilated" while the remainder were "smashed"—belonged to the 11th, 27th and 34th Soviet armies.

The German victory announced in the communique evidently was the result of fighting for domination of the defenses of Leningrad.

In the Ukraine, according to the high command, formations of the German army, supported by aviation, established bridgeheads at "the most important places across the wide lower reaches of the Dnieper River."

After these bridgeheads had been held and expanded in several days fighting against desperate and strong enemy attacks, partly supported by tanks, to Germans were said to have "advanced victoriously from these bases in a wide front to the east."

The high command claimed the destruction by aircraft of a 7,300-ton tanker off the Hebrides, and the bombing and damaging of two freighters, included a tanker, steaming under convoy near England.

FOUR KILLED AS CAR HITS WAGON CARRYING EIGHT

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 16—An after-dark ride in a farm pushcart today had brought death on a rural highway to four children from nearby Dixonville and left four others injured, two seriously.

A brother and sister from each of two Dixonville families were fatally hurt when a automobile driven by Paul Clemenson, 51, Denver, Col., rammed their loaded wagon on route 480 about 10 o'clock last night.

WORK AT LORAIN YARD RESUMES AFTER STRIKE

LORAIN, Sept. 16 — Work resumed today at the Lorain yard of the American Shipbuilding Co., on navy orders for three submarine net tenders as 1,100 employees returned to their jobs after a 12-day strike caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the AFL and CIO.

Charles Purkis, CIO regional director, said CIO men in the yards were returning only temporarily until the National Labor Relations Board determines the bargaining agent. The local CIO union last night voted unanimously to resume work on that basis.

At Legion Parley

PICTURED as he arrived in Milwaukee, Wis., for the American Legion's national convention is John Henry O'Connor, 75, of Winfield, Kans., who served in the World War as a major of infantry and won the Distinguished Service Cross. He also was decorated in the Spanish-American War.

LEGION TO BEGIN CONSIDERATION OF BIG ISSUES

Parade Being Conducted In Milwaukee; F.D.'s Foreign Policy To Be Backed

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 16—Consideration of grave national issues was temporarily put aside today at the 23rd annual national convention of the American Legion as thousands of legionnaires joined in the fun and frolic which every year marks the great Legion parade.

Today's procession was scheduled to last from nine to twelve hours, starting at 9 a. m. and continuing until the last Legionnaire and the last colorful float had covered a line of march stretching some three miles before the eyes of tens of thousands of onlookers.

Late today, convention committees on foreign relations, national defense, legislation and resolutions planned to grapple with momentous national issues. These committees are to frame Legion policy, and to place before the convention proper tomorrow such questions as U. S. aid to Russia, America's part in the European war, and related subjects dealing with the Legion's stand on administration foreign policy.

It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the committees will recommend help to Russia, and full support of acts of the administration with reference to defense and the war situation, despite opposition of non-interventionists to force a declaration against American involvement in the European war.

The disposition of the Legion delegates to back President Roosevelt in his policies was manifested on the first day of the convention when they shouted and cheered utterances of high officials of the army and navy—and boomed and jeered mention of the America First committee.

side of the Atlantic and concentrate on attacking the shipping lanes nearer Britain, it is considered possible that no serious incidents will develop in the immediate future.

Although the American Navy has orders to hunt down Italian as well as German submarines on the American side of the Atlantic, officials do not anticipate that any of Benito Mussolini's underwater craft will be found.

No Italian submarines so far have been reported operating on this side of the Atlantic, and it is considered unlikely that they will start to venture over now.

In addition to hunting down axis submarines and warships on this side of the Atlantic, there are indications that the United States Navy will start conveying as far as Iceland all ships carrying American aid to Great Britain.

Knox, in his speech, disclosed that the Navy has been conveying American and Icelandic vessels to Iceland since July 7th, the date on which this country took over the defense of that North Atlantic island outpost.

"Escort" Official Word

Knox said that continuously since July 7th American naval vessels "have been providing escort for cargo ships flying the American and Icelandic flags." Escort is the naval term for protection given to convoys.

Knox also said the Navy would today start providing protection "as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

These remarks led to the belief in diplomatic quarters in Washington that the American Navy henceforth will convey American aid-to-Britain as far as Iceland.

BERLIN, Sept. 16—German authorities today insisted on the legal validity of the Nazi blockade of North Atlantic waters despite Secretary of the Navy Knox's orders to the United States fleet to sink axis submarines and surface raiders found between North American and Iceland.

The American government, responsible sources asserted, has not notified Berlin of its definition of so-called American defense waters. Nor has Berlin requested such a definition since it considers its blockade pronouncement "valid guidance."

MADRID, Sept. 16—The newspaper ABC said today that the orders of Secretary of the Navy Knox to American warships to sink or capture any axis war vessels between the American continent and Iceland are "equivalent to a challenge to Germany and Italy and more than that—a real declaration of war."

The newspaper declared that President Roosevelt had "reached a real state of war without an official declaration," and that there are now "little hopes that a serious conflict will be averted."

POLICE CHIEF ASKS AID IN BREAK-IN INQUIRY

Police Chief William McCrady, Tuesday, asked property owners of the city to report break-ins as soon as possible after they are discovered. A prompt report of breaking and entering cases will help police in their investigations, Chief McCrady pointed out.

A break-in at the Mecca on West Main Street was reported to police late Monday. Employees of the establishment said someone had entered the basement of the building sometime Sunday night, taking an undetermined amount of canned goods.

The Mecca break-in makes the sixth case to have happened in the last five days.

European Bulletins

BERLIN — Confiscation of the property of Queen Wilhelmina and other members of the Dutch Royal Family was decreed today by Security Commission Arthur Seyss-Inquart on the ground of anti-German activity, according to a D.N.B. message from the Hague.

LONDON—A broadcast by the Paris radio said today that 10 more French hostages held by German occupational authorities have been shot "as a reprisal." The executed hostages ranged between 19 and 62 years old and were charged with "acts of aggression" against members of the German army.

BUENOS AIRES — Hostilities have been renewed on the frontier between Peru and Ecuador, according to a radio broadcast from Lima picked up in Buenos Aires today.

NEW YORK — A Berlin radio broadcast picked up by NBC today stated that "one hears from Panama" that several British ships are overdue at the Panama Canal and distress signals have been heard. (Editor's Note: There have been reports recently that a German raider is loose in the Pacific.)

BERLIN — The German high command announced today that six British planes were shot down during the night, when R.A.F. bombers penetrated northwestern areas of the Reich.

CAIRO—Cooler weather over the summer-scathed African wilderness and renewed skirmishes between British and axis forces pointed today to a major North African military collision this autumn.

BUDAPEST—Serbia is "on the verge of a civil war," the Serbian Premier General Nedich declared today in a broadcast appeal from Belgrade to the Serbian people to abandon activities against the occupying axis authorities, or face wholesale national destruction.

NEW YORK—A Swiss radio broadcast picked up by NBC said today that a major chemical plant in the suburbs of Bucharest, Romania, burned to the ground in a "giant fire."

LONDON — The London Daily Sketch said today that the Bulgarian government has agreed on full cooperation with Germany in the war against Russia. The report said a pact has been signed in which the Reich promised Bulgaria the portion of Greece extending from Salonika to the Turkish frontier.

OSLO, Norway (via Berlin) — Josef Terboven, German governor of occupied Norway, lifted the stage of siege imposed on Oslo and the surrounding district at 5 a. m. today. The state of siege and martial law were proclaimed last week because of strikes.

BERLIN — A German news agency dispatch from Zagreb, Croatia, charged today that "British agents" were believed to have had a hand in the bombing of Zagreb's central postoffice and telephone headquarters on Sunday afternoon.

many and Italy. It was stated that the abdication of the Shah "undoubtedly was forced" by members of the Iranian parliament.

British authorities said there was no truth in reports that Soviet Russia instigated the abdication and said it was "obviously the wish of freedom-loving people."

Officials added that there are sufficient British forces in Iran to "prevent serious disorders."

It was pointed out, however, that the British and Russian forces had been ordered to approach Teheran not because of the Shah's abdication, but because difficulties had arisen in rounding up Germans whose hidden influence was hindering the British. This influence, it was stated, did not come from Iranian government circles.

The abdicating Shah was replaced by his eldest son, Crown Prince Shahpur Mohammed Riza Pahlavi, 22-year-old youth, who took over the throne after the Iranian parliament held a special meeting at noon today.

Informed quarters expressed belief his selection for the role of Shah was influenced by the fact he neither belonged to any political party nor had any military status.

The abdicating Shah was born in 1878 and was elected king of Iran in 1925. He was crowned the following year.

FBI SILENT IN PROBE OF BIG CRUDE OIL DAMAGE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents today remained silent on their investigation into the possibility of sabotage in the derailment and subsequent fire which destroyed 11 tank cars of a 61-car crude oil train enroute to Philadelphia with its vitally-needed cargo.

Local FBI men refused to say whether or not they found evidence of sabotage or whether they had located a man who was seen jumping from the train shortly before the wreck. Pennsylvania railroad police, however, were carefully probing the twisted ruins, which were cleared from the double-track main-line right-of-way this morning.

The 61-tank cars, each carrying about 11,000 gallons of crude oil, were headed for Philadelphia refineries to alleviate the critical gasoline shortage on the eastern seaboard.

If Adolf ever makes the pilgrimage to Mecca, we'll wager it'll be under escort of a few panzer divisions.

MINOR MISHAPS MARK FIRST DAY OF GAME SEASON

By International News Service

Ohio today counted four minor casualties from the first day of the 1941 squirrel season, while initial reports from the hunters indicated that the supply of such game was not too plentiful.

One of the four wounded was Columbus Police Cpl. Edgar N. Butler, wounded slightly in the head by a stray .22-caliber bullet as he was on duty along the bank of Alum Creek on the eastern limits of Columbus. Butler said the shot undoubtedly was fired by a squirrel hunter.

Robert Duncan, of Cadiz, was struck by about 18 shotgun pellets fired by a friend at a squirrel on the ground while Duncan was hiding in a bush.

E. J. Bissel, 25, of Wadsworth, was wounded on the hands, arms, legs and body when the shotgun of his wife discharged accidentally eight miles southwest of Loudonville.

F. K. Rutter, 32, of Zanesville, was slightly wounded when a companion mistook Rutter's cap for a squirrel.

BRITISH PLANES CENTER ATTACK ON BIG SEAPORT

LONDON, Sept. 16—British authorities declared today that a "powerful" force of RAF bombers attacked targets at the great German seaport of Hamburg during the night.

Great fires were started in shipyards, factories and railroad facilities and burned for some hours, it was stated.

Other bomber squadrons were declared to have raided the German naval bases at Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven as well as the German-occupied French port of Le Havre.

Officials said Le Havre was hit particularly hard.

Nine British planes failed to return from the widespread night operations.

FISHERMAN FINED

Simon McCain, 24, Columbus, was fined $15 and costs in Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges' court Monday for fishing without a license. He was picked up near Circleville by Game Protector Chalmers Burns. His companion, Harold Gipson, 34, Columbus, being held on investigation for carrying a .38 calibre revolver under his shirt, was released with no charges filed against him.

the hospital; Wanko Balician, 13, whose condition was reported fair, and George Petro, 14, whose condition was satisfactory.

Blinded by Lights

Clemenson, ordered to post bond as pending a coroner's inquest told state police that headlights from another oncoming car had blinded him momentarily. When the lights had passed, he said the wagon loaded with children suddenly loomed before him—about 30 feet away on the concrete highway.

Clemenson said he swerved but was unable to avoid striking the car.

The car went down an embankment at the left side of the road. Neither Clemenson nor W. T. Hudson, of Cherry Tree, Pa., a passenger, was injured. Police said that Hudson corroborated Clemenson's story of how the accident happened.

PUMPKIN SHOW CHIEFS CONFER ABOUT DETAILS

PIE EATING SCHEDULED

Question Of More Tents Important One For Directors

Recreation facilities for children attending the Pumpkin Show, local contests and amateur talent shows to take the place of free acts, and the problem of finances were the main topics discussed by directors of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society when they met in the Council Chamber Monday night.

Plans are being set up by the WPA recreation department to provide recreation facilities for small children attending the show and directors Monday night appropriated $15 for establishing a room in the downtown area where children might be left under the supervision of recreation leaders while their parents visit the show.

Another feature being planned by the recreation department is a series of contests to take the place of free acts. A pumpkin pie eating contest has already been organized and recreation leaders are working on several other events which they believe will attract attention.

Solicitation for funds will start next Monday. Since directors have been forced to buy several new tents the problem of keeping finances from showing a deficit will be greater than last year. Secretary Mack Parrett told his colleagues that he has sold a sizeable amount of space in the downtown section, although there are many desirable locations downtown which have not been filled.

Growing size of the livestock division caused officials of the Junior Fair to ask for two additional tents to house livestock. With the stock being held over until the sale Friday night, County Agent F. K. Blair said additional space should be obtained. Feeling that the expense of purchasing two additional tents would be more than the Pumpkin Show treasury could stand, directors voted to limit the Junior Fair to the space now allotted it.

A band schedule, showing where each visiting band is to play and at what time, is to be worked out by Dan McClain, director of parades. Shew directors believe that such a method should make it easier for visitors to hear all the concerts.

Bands To Feature
The band program will be one of the features of the show this year with more than twenty bands scheduled to participate. Besides the Circleville high school band and the Junior band, six Class A bands will be here, all high school bands in the county and a number of school and lodge bands from adjoining counties.

The Circleville High School band will go to Jackson on Wednesday to play at Jackson's Apple Festival. Members of the band will be dismissed from their Wednesday afternoon classes in time to leave at 3 o'clock. Along with the band will go the 8-foot pumpkin constructed several years ago to advertise the show. The pumpkin will be hauled to Jackson on a truck loaned by the Hill Implement Company.

Show directors scheduled another meeting for October 6, the final meeting before the opening of the show on October 8.

Livestock Sale Friday of Show

Officials of the Pickaway County Livestock Association, Tuesday, agreed to sponsor the 4-H Club livestock sale on Friday of the Pumpkin Show.

County Agent F. K. Blair said he had talked with Harry Briggs, manager of the livestock association, and Mr. Briggs agreed to hold the sale on Friday evening. Holding the sale on that date will mean that livestock brought to the Pumpkin Show will be on exhibit two full days before being sold.

The sale will be held at Main and Pickaway Streets and will begin at 8 o'clock. Fat calves, pigs and lambs will be sold and County

RAILROAD CARS DETOURED AFTER TANK CAR FIRE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—Workmen today cleared the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad just northwest of Columbus, where 11 tank cars loaded with crude oil became derailed and were destroyed by fire. Meanwhile, traffic over the double-track main line was being detoured via Dayton.

The blaze, apparently ignited by a spark, occurred when a drawbar dropped between the 33rd and 34th cars of the 61-car train, automatically setting the brakes on the rest of the cars. They buckled and some of them jumped the track, 11 of them caught afire before the others could be hauled to safety. The 61 cars of crude oil, containing approximately 10,000 gallons each, were on their way to Philadelphia refineries to relieve the gasoline shortage on the eastern seaboard.

Agent Blair expects the sale to include nearly 50 head of livestock. Last year the sale was held on Wednesday afternoon of the Pumpkin Show and many of the select calves, sheep and pigs were taken away without being placed on exhibit.

BIG DAIRY BARN AT STATE FARM LOST IN FLAMES

LONDON, O., Sept. 16—Although believed to have been ignited by spontaneous combustion, authorities nevertheless pushed an investigation today into the origin of a $30,000 blaze which swept a large brick dairy barn at the London Prison Farm, semi-honor adjunct of Ohio Penitentiary.

Trustees and neighboring farmers led approximately 240 cattle from the blazing building to safety, and the fire departments of London and of the institution itself kept the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

The blaze was discovered in a straw stack in the center of the building, which has two wings. Twenty trustees, who sleep in a dormitory on the second floor, were routed by smoke and flames.

ASHVILLE

Rolland and Mrs. Featheringham, Main Street, had for over week end guests his father, mother and grandmother, Robert Featheringham, wife, and Mrs. Carrie Evans the 84-year-old grandmother. At home these visitors reside at Shadyside, Belmont County, a town of 4000 and in the heart of a good coal mining district. Met the elder Featheringham with the son down on the street Saturday and happened to have a couple pawpaws in hand which Bill Wallen, another 'possum food eater, had just given us. This kind of fruit was something new to our visitor, but took one along to sample it. Later report is, that he "tried it out" but didn't want anything smelling and tasting like that in his. So that leaves more for Bill and me.

The state highway department workers did a fine job of street marking for us Saturday, covering the central portion of the village streets. Two parallel parking spaces with same number of driving lanes. The yellow non-cross line was placed at danger points.

Village council was in session Monday paying a number of small bills amounting to $101.28, clerk Dick Willis told us. Today five different streets are to get a coating of tarvia and stone.

Ed. Hamilton, afflicted with a severe case of "shingles" for the last several days, is gradually getting better. . . The cannery force is keeping late hours now, packing both corn and lima beans. Both quantity and quality extra good, the employees, old timers at the work there, tell us.

Will be announcing in the close future, a couple of sizable farm deals. . . This is the one big day in farm bureau circles, many members of the community along with the big, 60-piece, three majorette band being there doing their stuff. We refer to the V. F. W. organization directed by our Mayor Fred Hines. Many of the members are local youngsters and real performers.

Neither the swimming pool nor the picture show propositions have "gone dead". Work is steadily going along with good success.

RIFLE KILLS CHILD

NAPOLÉON, Sept. 16—Twelve-year-old Albert Breckelman was shot fatally in the neck when he stepped in front of a rifle just as his 11-year-old brother, Richard, fired at a target on their father's farm near Napoleon.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

The Darby Township Schools began the new school year Tuesday, September 2, with an enrollment of 240, of whom 176 are in the elementary grades and 64 in the high school. This is the smallest enrollment Darby has had since 1925.

There are three new teachers on the faculty. Miss Erma Joyce Leatherman of Berlin, Pennsylvania, is teaching music and English; Mrs. Elizabeth Ater of Clarksburg is teaching the fourth grade, and Miss Willetta Burns of Circleville is teaching the sixth grade.

The Board of Education at its last meeting purchased a Seoscope, a microprojector, for use in the science classes and domestic science class. It can be used also in some of the hygiene classes in the grades. This will prove to be a very useful instrument in those lessons which call for the use of the microscope.

Lelan Poulson, Evelyn Stinchcomb, Martha White and Martha Downs of the Class of 1941 and Mary Stinchcomb of the Class of 1940 have entered Bliss Business School in Columbus. Verlin Hartman, Class of 1941, has enrolled in Otterbein College at Westerville. Betty Creamer, Class of 1940, is planning to enter O. S. U. this fall.

MILK MIXTURE FOR STOMACH ULCERS

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonsful in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle, it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by "Gallagher and drug stores everywhere."

He Will Remember

TODAY, he's just a little boy watching a fast freight thunder by. He doesn't realize, of course, that that freight train is carrying — not just freight — but fuel for the lamp of liberty and freedom.

But tomorrow — when he's a man — he'll remember those trains. He'll know, then, what an important part the American railroads played in shielding the great flame of democracy from the blackout of barbarism.

In the battle of mass production on which our national defense depends, the mass transportation of the railroads is a vital element. Never before has adequate, dependable railroad transportation meant so much to the people of America. Never before have railroads had a greater opportunity to serve their country.

It's a big job — and it's getting bigger all the time. How big it will eventually become, no one knows. But we do know this —

So far, the railroads have met every transportation need. And they will continue to meet every need as long as it is humanly possible to do so.

So far, the nation's loyal army of one million railroaders has shown that it has the experience and the ability to handle the multiplying transportation demand. And every railroader will continue to do his utmost to keep the cars rolling from forests, farms, and mines — to factories and plants — and to ports and Army cantonments.

In the saner world of tomorrow, millions of American boys and girls will remember — gratefully — what we do now!

POWER AND FREEDOM

THE United States has not been primarily a commercial sea power as Britain has. Our primacy is mainly industrial. And Britain's merchant marine is even now considerably ahead of ours. At any given moment, an English authority says, there are 2,000 British merchantmen at sea.

Our navy, though, is rapidly forging ahead of Britain's, partly from British war losses and latterly, more and more, from the new tonnage now sliding down our ship ways in a steady stream. We are already surpassing our naval production of the last war. And the stream will continue spreading while this war lasts.

Here is a natural response to the threats of the gangster powers. We suppressed our domestic gangsterism and now, in league with Britain, we are engaged in a similar job of world scope. We do it mainly by sea power, aided more and more by a natural alliance with air power.

We do this not merely for ourselves, no matter what the predatory powers say. The freedom of the sea which Hitler and Mussolini profess to fight for was theirs as well as ours until they started their piratical burning and sinking and drowning. It will be theirs again after the war if they observe the international rules of the sea. But the democracies and their allies may still have to keep control in order to keep the seas free for all.

A GROUP of scholars at the University of Michigan is editing a dictionary of Middle English. Their five volumes, to be ready for publication a few years hence, will reveal the "changing definitions of words, derivations of names, and spelling variations" of that period. The work is expected to supplement existing knowledge of life in England between 1100 and 1475.

Perhaps one should say its present meanings, for today's dictionaries show that it may be used to express a variety of ideas. Even if it had but one dictionary meaning, however, it might mean different things to different people. Human beings have an amazing capacity for misunderstanding each other even when they use the same language. It is no wonder that dictionary definitions change and multiply through the years.

If the war-thrift experts keep on telling motorists to "drive slow and save gas," we may soon be hearing again that ancient slogan, "Get a horse!"

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter.

Up to another glorious morning of Fall, and later, up and down the street, did hear everyone praising the weatherman. Noted traces of color on several trees and that brought thought of the hills in October. Not in five years have I seen the hills dressed in their Fall magic for they have always been at their best the Sunday before Pumpkin Show and the Sunday before Pumpkin Show is a day of real work for everyone on these prints. But this year the Show is two weeks earlier than usual, and I hope the hills put off their best display until I am at liberty.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

REASONS FOR ULTIMATUM

WASHINGTON—The group of Congressional leaders who conferred with the President before last week's historic broadcast got a much broader picture of the reasons behind the ultimatum than the President gave over the air.

He grimly informed his Capitol Hill chiefs that Hitler no longer could be trusted to respect the neutrality of American vessels anywhere in the world—that Hitler, in fact, had issued secret orders to "fire on sight."

Indeed, the President added gravely, the Fuehrer went so far as to instruct U-boat commanders to "search down" American vessels.

"We can have only one answer to this," Roosevelt said, in effect. "For our own safety, we must beat Hitler to the punch when we encounter him on the high seas. That is why American ships and planes which encounter German submarines and raiders, in waters that we deem necessary to our defense, have been ordered to shoot first."

The President went into some detail explaining the incident of the American battleship that was stalked by a Nazi submarine, to which he referred briefly in his broadcast.

"This happened before the Greer incident and it is further confirmation of our contention that, despite Nazi denials, the Greer was fired on first.

"I have a complete report from the commanding officer of the battleship, which was in the North Atlantic. This report shows that the sub maneuvered for four or five hours to get the battleship in a position where it could be torpedoed. There is no question about the intention of the sub commander. He would have sunk the battleship if possible."

The President held that, in the light of this and other recent experiences, it would be fatal to assume that American vessels are any more secure from attack than British warships.

"We can only assume," he said, "that when a Nazi sub or raider is in the vicinity—or within firing distance—of an American ship, it is there for one purpose only—to sink the American ship."

After reading his address to the Congressional group, the President invited criticism. But except for one or two clarifications no changes were made.

One suggestion produced a merry interlude in the otherwise grim conference. It came from House Foreign Affairs Chairman Sol Bloom, famous for so diligently promoting the anniversary of George Washington.

When the President read that part of the speech reviewing the measures against piracy taken by Presidents Adams and Jefferson, Bloom remarked:

"Why don't you mention George Washington? He sent a strong message to Congress on the necessity of protecting our vessels in time of war."

There was a loud laugh from Sol's colleagues.

Most favorable comment on the speech came from Senator Tom Connally of Texas and Representative Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, acting Speaker. Both warmly complimented the President's speech and

Crying's Good For You

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Hats off to Dr. Arthur N. Foxe of New York who, for the first time so far as I know, has stated openly that crying should have a place in the medicine chest.

I used to know an old doctor who made his women patients cry at nearly every visit he paid to them by his bluntness. The women always used to knock him when they met at the church socials but I noticed they always sent for him the next time they were in the "dumps" or even when they were really sick.

Stoicism is all right and a very wholesome quality denoting an ability to endure trying circumstances. But one can question the type of stoicism which is present when there is no real need. Why shouldn't a man cry at his son's wedding? Why shouldn't you cry at the movies? That is why you go there. It is just as good as an aspirin or a teaspoon of magnesium sulfate.

Crying Helpful

Many forms of illness show a tendency to recovery after weeping or crying. If a sick person weeps in his first hour, it is considered a good omen. It should not be considered a weakness to cry. Sometimes it is almost an impossibility to do so. Here it is a bad sign. We all know those who have received such a series of steady blows from the real world that it was well nigh impossible to resolve any one of these blows. The degree of tension inside is extraordinary and continues for a long period of time.

If we look for a human pattern of crying, we must turn to the infant. At least one-third of its motions are expressed by screaming or crying. And it is considered proper to let the baby cry long enough to cry himself to sleep.

A mother who does not permit the child to cry by itself binds it more closely to her. A child that cries by itself undoubtedly achieves a great degree of independence from personal attachment. When the child is crying and the mother does not appear one must assume that child weans itself in a way.

Crying of Children

"Women often have asked me about this matter," says Dr. Foxe, "and in one parent-teacher group it became an acute problem. I will confess that I was perplexed at first as to what to advise. In my

FIVE YEARS AGO

About 25 Circleville Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary planned to attend the 18th annual convention of the American Legion in Cleveland, September 21-24.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Dewitt Moore of Chicago, Ill., arrived to spend several days with Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bales, East Main Street, before leaving for London, England, where they were to make their future home. Mr. Moore was to be associated with British Bedaux, Limited, the largest firm of industrial engineers in the British Empire.

The eastend filling station of the Crites Oil Co. was entered and a small quantity of pop and oil stolen.

10 YEARS AGO

Dr. Franklin McElfresh, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Circleville for five years, was assigned to the McKendree Methodist Church, Columbus, at a meeting of the Ohio Conference.

perplexity, I have advised mothers to look ahead and to try to anticipate in what sort of a world their children will be living in their second, third, and even fourth decades of life and what they would prepare their children for, a hard or an easy life."

Mothers naturally want to go to the child who is crying, but the mother who lets an infant cry it out does in the long run accomplish more for her child. As you will see, these are not easy problems and I do not believe the solution lies in either extreme.

At any rate, let us gently scan our fellow man and allow him to cry when he wishes. It may be better for him than a bottle of vitamins or a good dose of salts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. N.: "What effect has bowling on an arrested TB case? Does it cause the scar tissues to break?"

Answer: It all hinges on the word "arrested." Do you mean arrested or cured? If cured, how sure are you it is cured? For an arrested case, I think bowling is too strenuous a sport. Not because it breaks up healed spots in the lungs, but because any exertion of that extent may start the process anew. If cured, then bowling is all right.

Constant Reader—"I am suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs. I live in an extremely dusty and sandy place. Is this detrimental to me? 2. When one has recovered from tuberculosis should he carry a lot of extra weight? 3. Is a person in danger of taking tuberculosis from another with an active case even though he is not coughing? 4. Does a person ever run a temperature with a nervous breakdown?"

Answer—"1. Yes, living in a dusty place is certainly detrimental to tuberculosis of the lungs. 2. During treatment the patient with tuberculosis usually gains weight, but it is not necessary to carry this after a cure has been accomplished. 3. Yes. 4. No, a person with a nervous breakdown does not carry a temperature and the idea that they do is liable to lead to a postponement of treatment. A nervous breakdown and tuberculosis often are much the same in symptoms. To ascribe the temperature to the nervous breakdown is wishful thinking.

HALLIE SINGLETON, a fashion model, reminisces about the time, six years before, when she was 21 and had just met

ERIC ADAMS, a young would-be actor.

YESTERDAY: Eric goes with Hallie to stay at her home while his broken arm heals. He meets her mother.

CHAPTER FOUR

HALLIE SWUNG her racquet with a sharp undercut—and missed. "Toby's game," Louise Witherspoon called from the bench beside the tennis court. "Who's going to take me on?"

"Toby," Hallie answered, dropping a little breathlessly beside her friend. "The man's a demon, Lou. He could beat the whole Davis team single-handed. I'm going up to see about some cool drinks. Harriet and Ed and the Wooleys will be here any minute and they've been promised food."

"Come on, Louise," the tall young giant named Toby Fennell called. "I've just time for one more set."

"Toby! Can't you stay and meet my friends?"

Toby shook his head sadly. "Got a rehearsal at five, Miss Hallie."

"Toby takes his career seriously. I forgot to tell you that." It was Eric who spoke. He'd been watching the tennis from the terrace, but now he came down to join them.

"There are a lot of things you didn't tell me about your friend," Hallie said when they were out of ear-shot of the other two.

"What, for instance?"

"That he's tremendously likeable and that he plays the best game of tennis I've seen around these parts. We must have him often. Or any of your other friends from the company. After all, this is your house now, Eric."

"Why are you so anxious to meet my friends, Hallie?"

Hallie said, "I hadn't thought about it, only . . . only I thought you might feel . . . well, you have so much in common with them that it might make it less lonely for you. After all, you care about the theater, and our family can't do much about keeping you in touch. I don't want it to be dull for you."

"Dull? Here?" Eric stopped for a moment on the steps and let his glance encompass the house and garden and linger at last on her face. "Never! These two weeks have been pretty fine. Your Dad has made me feel like one of the family and . . ."

"That's because you play chess and let him win."

"And you have been . . . well, something I can't put into words. I just never knew any girl could be as sweet. You pamper me and I love it."

"Maybe I like it, too, Eric, will you ask Susan to bring iced tea and sandwiches to the east terrace?"

The dark girl's eyes were on Eric. "I think you have," she said. Hallie turned to him. "Eric, take

New Officers in Charge As P.-T.A. Has Meeting

Washington Group Has 75 Persons At Inaugural

The Washington Township Parent-Teacher Association met Monday at the school with 75 members present for the first meeting of the school year. The new officers were in their chairs, Miss Nellie Kuhn heading the staff as president. Mrs. Marvin Steeley is vice president; Mrs. Elmon Richards, secretary, and Ralph Betz, treasurer.

Miss Kuhn announced her year committees during the business session. Oakley Leist will serve as chairman of the membership committee comprised of Mrs. A. W. Bosworth, Mrs. Ralph Betz, Mrs. Stanley Corman and M. M. Bowman. The finance committee includes Ralph Betz, chairman, Howard Huston, A. W. Bosworth, Mrs. Boyd Stout and Mrs. Harry Parker; hospitality, Mrs. C. J. Hill, chairman, Mrs. Walter Richards, Mrs. and Mrs. Harry Rife, Mrs. William Goode and Mrs. Russell Andrews; publicity, Miss Lois Engle; publications, Alton Noggle and E. A. McCoy; year program, Mrs. M. M. Bowman, chairman, Mrs. R. C. Palm, Miss Edith Spangler, Mrs. Floy Brobst and Boyd Stout.

The association decided to donate $15 to supplement lunches of needy children of the school. It was decided also that the group would join the State and National Associations. The regular meeting date was set for the third Monday of each month at 8 p. m.

The following program was enjoyed, Mrs. Harry Rife presenting a poem, "Another If," for the first number; piano solo, "Autumn Sunset," by Martha Bolender; a talk on interesting facts about Pickaway County, Boyd Stout, and two poems, "Hello" and "Superstitions," by Mrs. Bowman.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Rife and her committee.

Sorensen-Wright
Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Irene Esther Wright of Columbus to Mr. William F. Sorensen II of Baltimore, Md., son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sorensen of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erroll J. Wright of New Holland.

The Rev. J. L. Ward read the single ring ceremony Wednesday, September 10, at 5:45 p. m. in the Methodist parsonage on Washington Boulevard, Baltimore.

Black accessories were worn by the bride who chose for her marriage a flag blue transparent velvet frock trimmed in rhinestone clips.

The bride, a graduate of the New Holland High School in the class of 1934, has been connected with the Montgomery Ward and Co. in Washington, C. H. and Columbus for the last four years. She plans to continue her work at the Columbus store for the present.

Mr. Sorensen is associated with Montgomery Ward and Co. of Baltimore. He served with the Merchant Marines for a few years and is a reserve pilot in the air corps.

No definite plans for the future are being announced.

Papyrus Club
The Circleville Papyrus Club met Monday at the home of Miss Nell Weldon, South Scioto Street, with 10 members present. Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, outgoing president, conducted the opening business session, received reports of year committees and took care of the unfinished business of the year.

When the session was turned to Mrs. Charles Gilmore, new president, plans were discussed for the work of the coming year.

The program included original work, Mrs. A. Hulise Hays reading an original contributed poem. The Rev. L. C. Sherburne read a group of his quatrains and reported the sale of several. Mrs. W. W. Robinson reviewed the fifth chapter of the study book on "Setting," open discussion following.

Members present included Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hays, Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt, Mrs. E. O. Crites, Mrs. Richard Jones, Miss Margaret Rooney, Mrs. Downing, Mrs. Gilmore, George W. Groom and the Rev. Mr. Sherburne.

The next session will be Monday, September 29, at the home of Mr. Groom, West Mound Street. All sessions of the Papyrus Club are scheduled for alternate Mondays with The Monday Club.

Republican Women's Luncheon
The Ohio Federation of Republican Women's organizations will have its first annual meeting and luncheon Monday, September 22, at the Neil House, Columbus.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To vary the standard recipe of scalloped potatoes, add one-eighth teaspoon each of ground thyme and ground marjoram.

A dirty tool cannot do a clean job. This is particularly true of the brushes, dust cloths, mops, and other articles that are the housewife's tools in her daily occupation of cleaning the house.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., the senior high school permits 10 minutes of dancing during each study hall period.

Lookbooklet OF THE WEEK

You Don't Have to Trust to Luck—Third Booklet Tells Secrets of Cake Success

You can create modernistic designs with Marble Cake—one of the most delicious and beautiful of the 250 Cake Recipes in the third Lookbooklet of our series

Baking a successful cake is no longer a matter of luck. It simply means following the easy, time-saving methods and short cuts suggested by the expert home economists who edited "250 Classic Cake Recipes," third in the series of twenty Lookbooklets available now to readers of The Herald.

Whether it is an elaborate party cake or a simple one-egg cake you want, the recipes are here in exciting variety. It's a good idea to have a freshly baked cake on hand for unexpected callers, for afternoon tea, for after school snacks for the children, dressed up in whipped cream or fruit sauce for a quick dessert, or to serve for any refreshment occasion.

The Cake Book presents hundreds of delicious recipes for Budget Cakes, Chocolate Cakes, Spongecake, Angel Food Cake, Party Cakes, Fruit Cakes, Upside Down Cakes, Spicelikes, and others. It describes every step in making a perfect cake, for the measuring of ingredients to removing cake from the pans. There is a special section dealing with types of flour, size of eggs, liquids, and the technique of measuring, mixing, baking and testing, with special attention to the little details that make the difference between an ordinary cake and velvety textured, light-as-air cake.

Frostings and fillings are important too. A simple economical white cake can be glamorized easily with a Caramel Fudge Frosting, or an Orange Marmalade Filling. Delicate and pungent flavors are suggested; fruit and nut garnishes are described; there's a fascinating variety of recipes that take only minutes to prepare and that dress a plain cake in party frills.

The Cake Booklet is third in the series of 20 Culinary Arts Lookbooklets being released by The Herald. Each of the booklets is packed with valuable food information and recipes to help every homemaker prepare meals of greater variety at less cost and time to her. Menu-monotony is one of the modern homemaker's most trying problems. These beautiful booklets are designed to do away with this irksome puzzle by offering suggestions for every possible food occasion.

The first two booklets, already released and still available, are "500 Snacks" and "500 Delicious Dishes from Leftovers," both practical gay books that fairly teem with bright ideas.

To obtain your lookbooklet simply present ten cents at any of these stores: North End Market, Griffith and Martin, Weiler's Grocery, Brink's Market, Harpster & Yeast Hardware, Glitt's Food Market, Blue & White Malted Milk, Wallace Bakery, Steele's Produce, R. & R. Furniture Company, Hill Implement Company, Clarence Wolf Grocery, Winner's Grocery or Glitt's Grocery and Meat Market.

To wash powder puffs, shake out as much excess powder as possible. Soak for half an hour in lukewarm sudsy water. Remove them from this water without squeezing or pressing, and transfer to clean, lukewarm suds. Swish through the suds until clean, and rinse three or four times in clear lukewarm water. Wrap in turkish towel, blotting the towel against the puffs until most of the water has been removed. Let puffs dry on clean towel or cloth, turning them from time to time. When completely dry, soften them if need be, by fingering gently.

"AMERICA PREFERRED"

Ezio Pinza, Metropolitan Opera basso, stars as guest singer on "America Preferred" Saturday, at 8:30 p. m. His songs include "Il Lacerato Spirito" from the opera "Simon Boccanegra" by Verdi; "Tu Lo Sai" by Torelli; "Flocia la Neve" by Cimara and "L'ultima Canzone" by Tosti. The orchestra is under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein and Deems Taylor is narrator.

HOPE WITH HOPPER

Just previous to returning to the air with his own program, Bob Hope, the comedian, will make a guest appearance on "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" Wednesday, at 5:15 p. m. Miss Hopper's program will originate in Milwaukee where she'll be an honor guest at the American Legion Convention.

PENTHOUSE PARTY

Joe E. Brown, the comedian with the ear-to-ear smile, and Count Basie, the popular band leader, will be guest stars on Ika Chase's Penthouse Party Friday, 9:30 p. m. In addition, Yvette will sing two current favorites with music by Paul Baron's orchestra. Ika Chase will emcee and Bert Parks announces.

RADIO BRIEFS

Jack Miller definitely returns as Kate Smith's bandleader this season when the songbird opens her Friday night programs October 3. Miller has been conducting for her ever since she came to radio prominence. There were rumors that he was not going to be on the show this season but they've been denied all around.

A music publisher is preparing a folio of Lyn Murray's arrangement for choir. Murray is the coach of the chorus heard on "Hit Parade."

Lorin Maazel, 11-year-old conductor, who was first introduced on the air by Frank Black as conductor of an NBC orchestra, is reported to have interested Doris Duke Cromwell, the tobacco heiress, in acting as the youngster's patroness.

Phil Spitalny plans to make a special recording of "Home on the Range" with his orchestra and present the records to army camps. On his tour of military centers he found the soldiers preferred that song over all others.

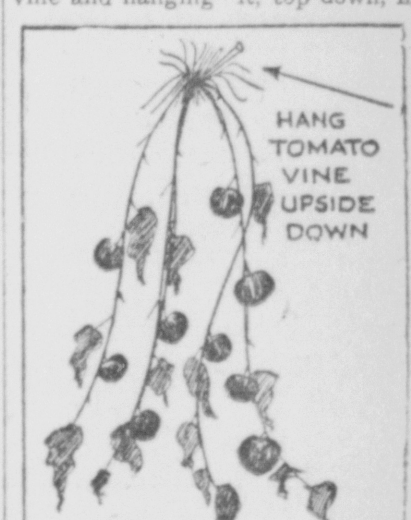

Al Warner, commentator, has gotten himself a candy sponsor and will be heard Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 6 p. m. in fifteen-minute news roundups starting Sept. 29.

"City Desk" will be closed next month with the sponsor replacing it with an old favorite, Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby." Latter series starts Oct. 4, will be heard Saturdays at 8:30 p. m.

the garage, barn or cellar. In this way the tomatoes will continue to ripen.

You can also pick the green tomatoes and put them on shelves in storage quarters, where they will continue to ripen and furnish tomatoes for several weeks more.

Shade trees, lilacs, shrubs, hardy lilies, roses, peonies and almost the complete list of perennials and rock plants can be set out between now and freezing weather as well as in the Spring.

Reds And Dodgers Put On Fiasco In 17-Round Fray

By Jack Mahon

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Six weeks ago he was a tired, disinterested, old man — as baseball players go — a cast-off of the St. Louis Browns, one of the poorest teams in baseball, but today Johnny Allen, 35-year-old perennial problem pitcher of the big leagues, was a hero to the bums of Brooklyn and a star of a ball game unprecedented in the history of the National League.

Allen was the big hero yesterday as Brooklyn's battling Dodgers fought with their hearts and their heads through 16 scoreless innings, then survived a ghastly 17th to whip Cincinnati, 5 to 1, and stretch their league lead to two full games over the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

For 15 innings, Allen, who had been within one pitch of a no-hitter in the first nine innings (yielding only a single) fought back each challenge of the Reds and big Paul Derringer. He was relieved for a pinch-runner in the 16th, to no avail, and after Relief Hurler Hugh Casey had blanked the Reds in their turn, Umpires Goetz, Reardon and Conlan decided to have the teams play one more inning. If no score resulted—they would call the game.

Exhibition Put On

It seemed there would be sufficient light to play one more frame but, when Pete Reiser opened the 17th with his 13th homer, a 350-foot drive into the right center-field stands, the Reds decided to stall—and put on one of the weirdest exhibitions in history.

They tried everything. They changed pitchers, delayed going to the plate, argued, refused to watch runners, refused to tag a runner out on the baseline and, in a thoroughly undisguised, unsportsmanlike performance for a team mathematically out of the pennant race, turned a great ball game into a baseball burlesque show.

Camilli followed with a single to left and Riggs singled to center, sending Dolf to third. That ended Derringer and, after some grade a time-wasting, Joe Beggs replaced him. Darness was gathering the field to its bosom as the Dodgers, realizing the Reds' intentions, rushed to the batters' box.

Ball Juggled Around

Medwick hit to Beggs who fiddled with the ball, then made a vain, half-hearted attempt to get Riggs at second, Camilli scoring. Reese tapped in front of the plate but West kicked it around long enough till all were safe.

"Strike out," "strike out," yelled the few Dodger fans in the audience, so Mickey Owen swung at everything that came up to the plate—and finally socked a clean single into left field to score Riggs and Medwick.

Manager Bill McKeehn called another conference and sent Jim Turner in for Beggs. By this time it was so dark the Red left fielder, Mike McCormick, could not be seen from the press box.

The Dodgers were trying to strike out legitimately; the Reds were trying to stall — any way they could. Base runners walked around like tourists — unnoticed by the Reds.

Casey finally bounced to the box and, unwillingly, Turner tossed to Werber forcing Reese for the first out. Then, with men on first and second and one out, Dixie Walker hit a pop fly between short and third. Werber and Joost let it fall between them. Though the infield fly rule automatically retired Dixie neither the Red fielders nor the umpires appeared to realize it.

Mickey Owen, who was on second, did, and ran half-heartedly to third hoping he would be tagged out. This would have constituted the third out. Joost refused to

MORE COUNTY LAND TO BE DEVOTED TO FOODSTUFFS IN 1942

AAA APPROVES MORE ACREAGE IN VEGETABLES

National Defense Needs Pointed Out By Boggs In Listing Plans

Mistakes Of First World War Teach Lessons, Chairman Says

A new farm program which will put approximately 20 percent more land in Pickaway County into production of foodstuffs for National Defense in 1942 was announced Tuesday by County AAA Chairman John G. Boggs.

Officials estimate that the new program will release between 69,000 and 70,000 acres for vegetables and grain crops including corn and wheat. Under the new farm program about 202,000 acres of crop land will be allotted for soil depleting crops, compared with 133,373 acres in 1941.

The new program is one which will affect every farmer in Pickaway County. Special allotments for such surplus crops as corn, wheat and tobacco will be retained under the 1942 program, but there will be no total depleting allotments.

Chairman Boggs explained the new program with the following example: If a farmer has 100 acres of cropland, he is required to devote 20 acres to conserving crops. If he has a 20-acre corn allotment and a 20-acre wheat allotment, he can put the remaining 40 acres in any other crop he wishes.

MANY COUNTIANS AT STATE FARM BUREAU CONFAB

The state-wide Farm Bureau field day, held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus, Wednesday, attracted approximately 150 farm folk from Pickaway County.

Of local interest was Mary Alice Smith, 17-year-old daughter of Grafton Smith, Ashville, who led the Pickaway County Band in the big parade during the morning program.

The parade, stretching out for nearly two miles, included 50 bands and 80 floats depicting the cooperative program throughout Ohio. The Grand Assembly of all bands, over 1,500 players, was staged before the Grandstand under the leadership of Louis E. Pete, nationally known band master.

For the barbecued lunch, 50 steers were roasted and served. Awarding of prizes, including over 100 items of merchandise, was held in front of the grandstand at the close of the program.

To Permit Commodities

The program will continue to adjust production of surplus crops, but will open up the production of commodities needed to fill United States domestic needs for National Defense and for nations resisting aggression. Conservation of the soil will be a major factor in the 1942 program, since one-fifth of the cropland must be devoted to crops that protect the land.

Soil building allowance will be computed on the basis of the difference between the sum of the special allotments and the total cropland. This difference is multiplied by 70 cents to determine the amount which the farmer can earn by carrying out soil-building practices.

"Our new program will prevent the mistakes of the first World War which brought a long series of difficulties for farmers," Chairman Boggs said.

Through the machinery of the National Farm Program, farmers can produce what is needed and avoid the bad after-effects of an over-expanded farm plant. The fact that the program calls for greatly increased production of some commodities does not mean that the lid is off on production of all commodities, AAA officials warned, and they pointed out that it was just as important to National Defense and future welfare to hold production of some commodities in check as it was to increase supplies of others.

Beans, Vegetables Urged

Crops which will be encouraged under the program will be soybeans and vegetables, foodstuffs which can be consumed domestically or shipped abroad.

FAYETTE ENGINEER PLANS COUNTY RESURFACING JOB

WASHINGTON C. H. Sept. 15—Engineer George A. Gregg has announced a county-wide road resurfacing project which will result in repair work on more than 65 miles of county roads.

The work will cost approximately $32,000 and brings a total black top mileage in Fayette County to 120 miles, Gregg said. Officials hope to complete the repair work before winter.

Note: The Washington message to which Bloom referred was sent to Congress December 7, 1796, and dealt with the necessity of protecting our sovereignty on the seas during the war between France and England. It stated in part: "To secure respect to a neutral flag requires a naval force, organized and ready to vindicate it from insult or aggression. This may even prevent the necessity of going to war by discouraging belligerent powers from committing such violations of the rights of the neutral party as may first or last leave no other option."

FIRST LADY

Mrs. Roosevelt may soon work for the Government for one dollar a year. That is, she will if Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia persuades her to take charge of the Women's Division of his Civil Defense Administration.

Mrs. Roosevelt is intensely interested in civil defense and several months ago, seriously considered visiting Britain to study civil defense measures under actual war conditions. Because of matters of state, this plan did not materialize.

Actually, behind the scenes, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very active in the Civil Defense Administration. LaGuardia confers with her frequently and several of her suggestions have been followed.

She is especially interested in bringing women into a prominent role in the CDA and at a recent press conference gently criticized LaGuardia for not doing this. The shaft went home and he is now using it as his chief argument in urging the First Lady to take charge of Women's Division.

Note: The dynamic little New York mayor is telling friends that he has no intention of quitting as Civil Defense Administrator.

SENATOR "PAPPY"

SCENE: Radio room in the House office building, Washington.

TIME: Any Thursday evening.

CHARACTERS: Senator Lee O'Daniel ("Pass the Biscuits, Pappy") and his hill-billy band.

The Senator from Texas, with his troupe, has come to the studio to make a recording. Immediately after the show, records of the performance are shipped to 14 radio stations in the Lone Star State.

The hill-billy band has a hard time warming up Ezra, with his accordion; Micky Wicky (O'Daniel's son), with his bull fiddle; Texas Rose, singer; Caesar and Happy, with their violins, and the Texas songbird, with guitar and voice—plus the maestro himself—struggle a long time.

Pappy is displeased. "Micky, raise that bull fiddle . . . Ezra, get 'round' to the other side of the mike . . . No, no, it ain't right; let's try it a key lower."

Finally, the Senator spits out his chewing gum, and the happy company swings into a rendition of "Beautiful Texas."

This is a musical prelude to set folks to feelin' right. Then Pappy steps up to the microphone to greet the home folks as a Senator in Washington, tells them how he misses Texas, bee-utiful Texas, how he helped remove joint-returns from the new tax bill and thus "prevented Texas mothers from becoming chattel slaves."

Then, as the half-hour show is over, Pappy congratulates himself on being the composer of two songs on the program, but complains that this radio business is expensive.

"Back in the days when I was campaigning for Governor," he says, "they offered me $2,000 a program. While I was Governor, I got free time on the air. But now I'm havin' to pay good money to go on the air."

Those who heard the show could well understand.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The crack office staff of the late Senator Pat Harrison has now been given White House jobs at the personal order of President Roosevelt . . . Further tell-tale sign of John L. Lewis' undercover campaign to recapture the CIO presidency; although he has no open control over the CIO News, weekly organ supposed to represent all CIO unions, its last two issues have been filled with pro-Lewis articles. Who ordered this policy change, the leftist editors, closely allied with Lewis, refuse to say . . . The South Salt Lake, Utah, Kiwanis Club has launched a nationwide drive to organize Kiwanis clubs in South America.

TEMPERATURE TO REMAIN HIGH IN PICKAWAY AREA

Temperatures Monday reached a high of 87 degrees and fell during the night to a low of 56.

Farmers in the county are taking advantage of the fair weather to finish their corn cutting, which is nearing completion in many sections.

The weather also has favored squirrel hunters, although few squirrels were reported killed in the county Monday.

HOCKING COUNTY FAIR TO START WEDNESDAY

LOGAN, Sept. 16—Late plans are being completed for the opening of Hocking County's fair on Wednesday. Tents and rides are being erected on the fairgrounds and exhibits are being set up.

The horse show, under the supervision of Mrs. Earl Elberfeld, will be held Thursday evening and is expected to attract good crowds. The Logan high school band and glee club will present a program on Wednesday evening of the fair.

N. & W. FAMILY ASKED TO HELP DEFENSE PLANS

Asserting that the Norfolk and Western Railway and its employees have met all transportation requirements of the increased defense traffic "satisfactorily and efficiently," W. J. Jenks, N. & W. president, in a message to the railroad's workers, urged the employees to "continue to meet the demands made on the railroad and on each individual engaged in its operation and maintenance."

He told the workers that "your railroad is playing an important part in the defense program," and pointed out that about 10 percent of all the bituminous coal mined in the United States is produced by mines located in N. & W. territory.

The rail executive added that "the greater part of our coal tonnage goes to steel mills and to other leading industries which are engaged, directly and indirectly, in the construction of battleships, planes, tanks, guns; and in the manufacture of powder and scores of other defense products."

"Norfolk and Western employees," Mr. Jenks said, "are accustomed to difficult jobs. They have never failed to cope successfully with them in the past." He expressed confidence that the railway's employees "will measure up to any job that they may be called upon to handle during and after this emergency."

In normal times the railroads buy and use one-fifth of all the timber cut in the United States.

TED LEWIS AND COMPANY TO OPEN IN COLUMBUS

Ted Lewis and his orchestra, fresh from their Hollywood film triumph, will return to the R-K-O Palace, Columbus, for the fourth time in as many years for an in-person, on stage engagement which begins Friday.

The master showman, Lewis, will feature his "Rhythm Rhapsody Revue", along with his famed band. Included in the revue are The George Rogers Dancers, the Blair Sisters, Jean Blanche, Gladys Tell, Louise Glenn, June Edwards and old reliable Charlie "Snowball" Whittier, Ted's shadow.

KIWANIANS ENJOY MUSIC AND PROGRAM OF VARIETY

Kiwanians were entertained Monday evening at their meeting in Hanley's tearoom by a group of youngsters who sang, played the piano and recited. The children were trained at the various WPA Recreation Centers of the city, and were taken to the meeting by Delos H. Marcy, WPA administrator.

The club also heard George Johnson of Ashland, Ky., who represents Ohio University, discuss the government's vocational training program which will be started in Circleville about October 1 if enough applications for instruction are received.

It was announced that the club's annual election of officers would be conducted September 29, with the slate of officers to be nominated at the meeting next week.

Guests Monday evening included John Kader of Brooklyn, N. Y., father-in-law of Dr. David Goldschmidt, and E. A. Durler of Oshkosh, Wis., father-in-law of Harold Limback.
